SCHURR HIGH SCHOOL
820 North Wilcox Avenue
Montebello, CA 90640
VOLUME XIV

High Energy

Since the beginning of the school year, an electrifying current ran with intensity from every student to every faculty member.

Energy ran through sporting events, class hours, club activities and many other before and after-school activities.

Students had shown their restless energy in sports and academics by being tough competitors to other schools. Crowds responded enthusiastically to the stimulating and spunky movements of the cheerleaders and drill team members, and also to the band, who played dynamically. Organizations were active by having fund raisers.

This energy current is what kept the students and faculty members going for the whole school year. For these reasons, High Energy was chosen as the theme of this yearbook.

Elaine Wong and Gemini

While running to the goal line, Mike Sandoval leaves his opponent behind. Football practice during the summer paid off in moments like these.

"Schurr students have a tremendous amount of stored energy and only a little encouragement is needed to bring it out."

Liz Yanez

Standing with a spooky doll are Lupe Lugo and Connie Arambula. They were two of the many participants of Costume Day during Spirit Week.

During a pep rally, Tommy Hernandez, Wesley Paik, Gary Calisher, Fred Calzada, Gina Cota and Eric Krondak play their instruments. Band members showed off their talents during pep rallies.

While walking to class, Chris Wolf smiles to the students he sees. This costume won him a prize at the contest held during one of the lunches.

Spartan Spirit

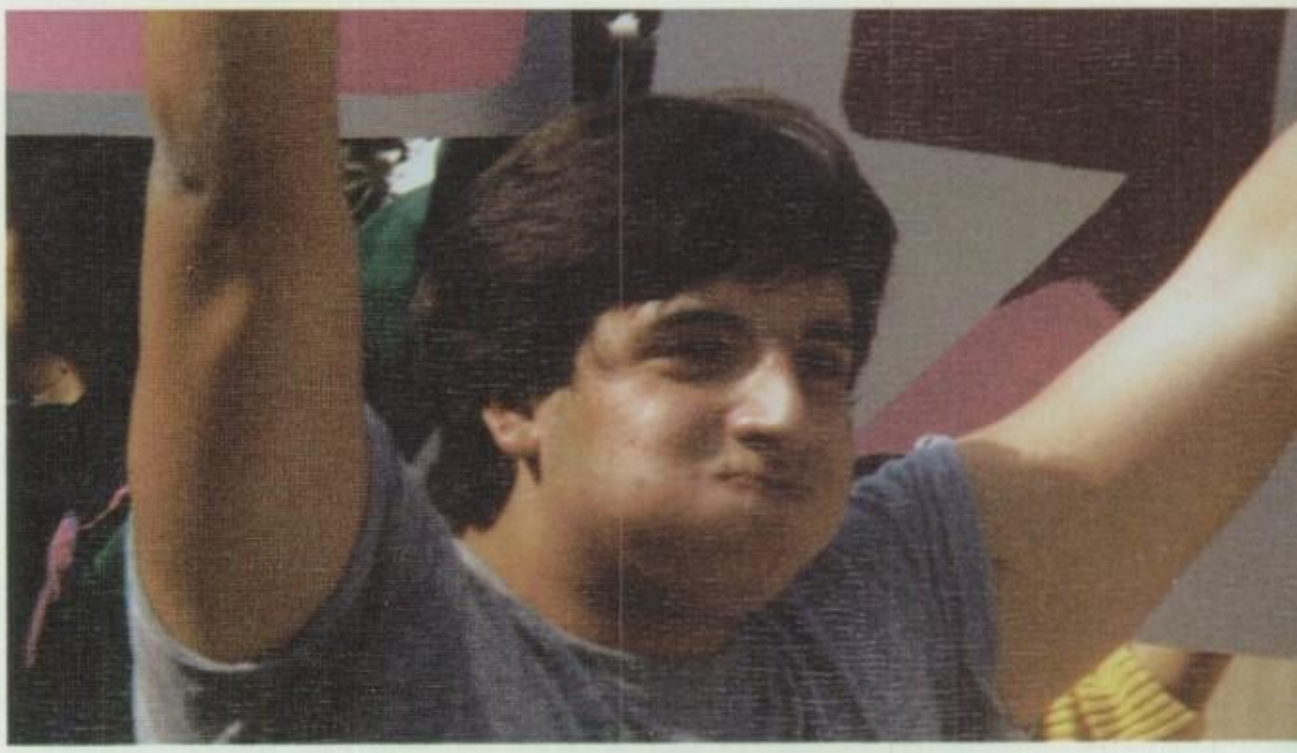
"We've got spirit, yes we do. We've got spirit, how 'bout you?" Schurr Spartans sang out that chant during games because they knew that no other school could have topped their energy. Schurr's energy sparked out of everyone.

Schurr's spirit was so noticeable that a coach from another school commented, "Your crowd is really enthusiastic . . . I've never seen such a reacting crowd."

But some students were not satisfied with the energy. Paul Guerrero complained, "It's (energy) too much, but not enough! Especially when there is a 'rad' football game. Everybody gets involved, which creates a high energy level, but like I said, it's just not enough." Oh well, you can't please all!

Jackie Borja

Looking down from A-building are Israel Bran, George Arizmendez, Leonard Purvis, Giovanni Alvarenga and Eduardo Elizarraras. The senior class decorated the building on Homecoming before school started.



After winning the hot dog eating contest, Paul Gallegos raises his arms in triumph. Contestants in that contest raced one another in eating 16 hot dogs.

Questioning students and faculty members with "Who you gonna call?" is Gina Cota. Despite the popularity of the movie "Ghostbusters," Cota was the only one wearing a ghostbusters costume.

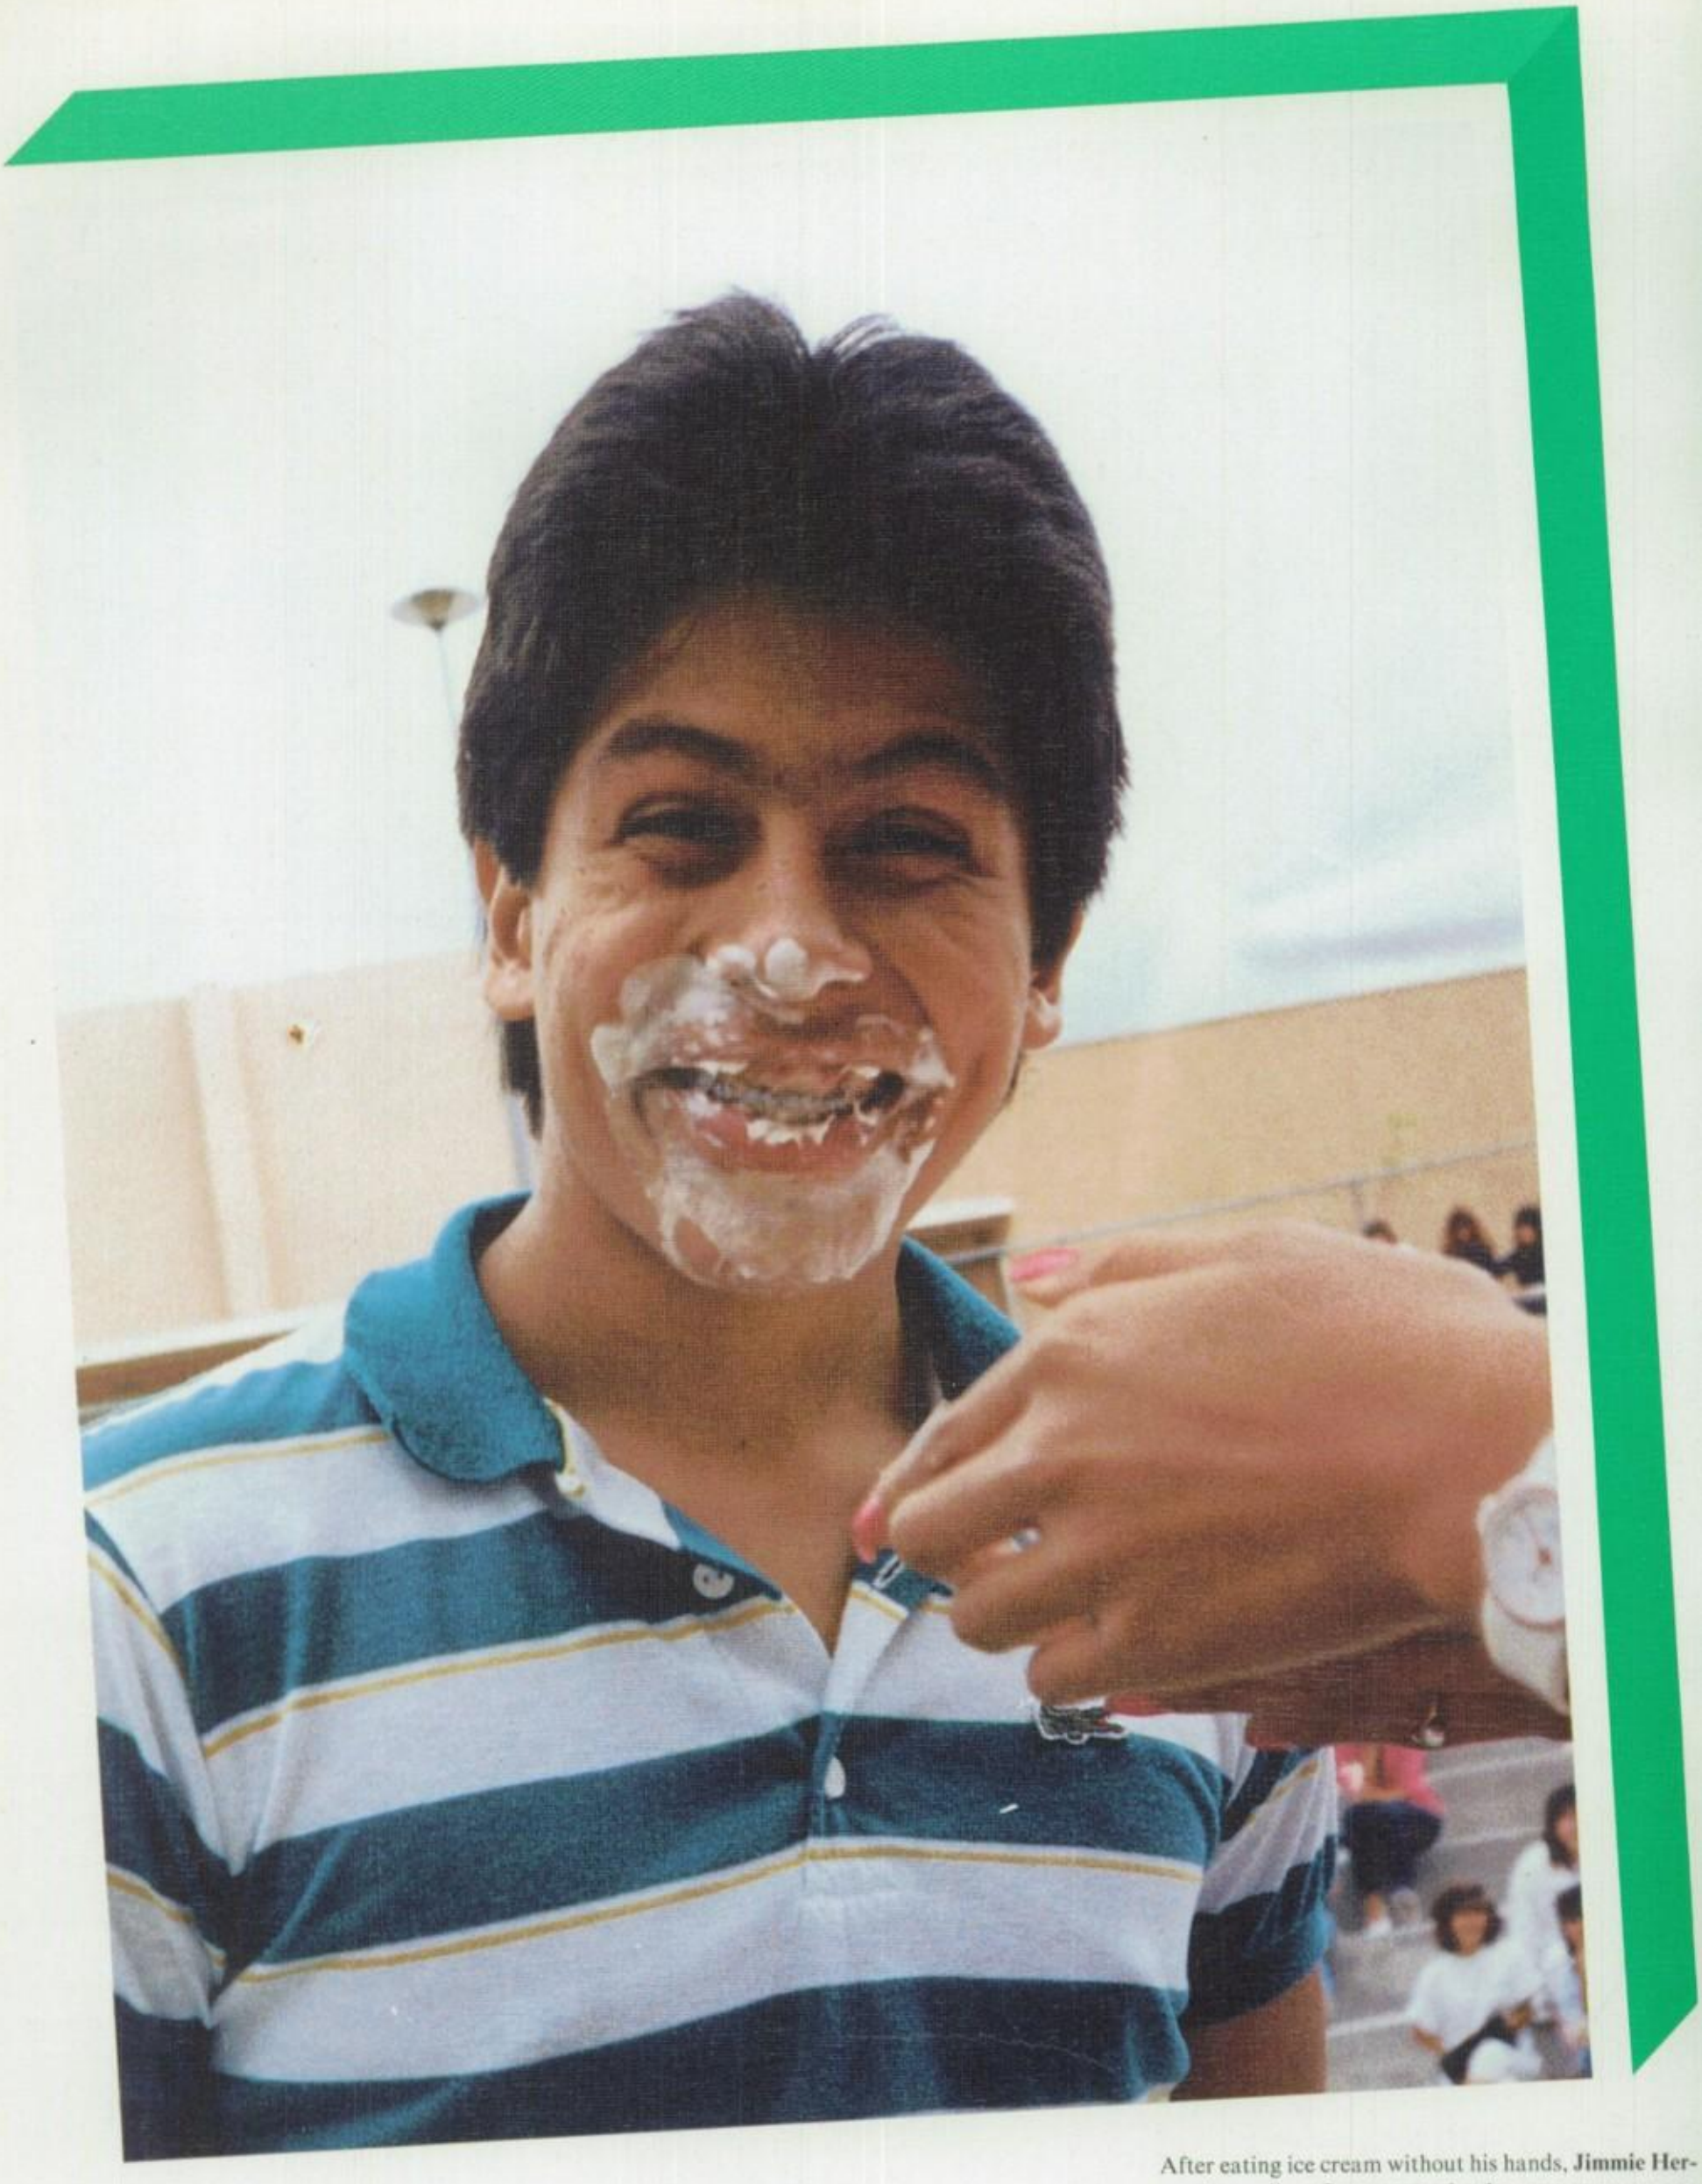
"Schurr students are always outgoing in both academics and sports."

Paul Chien

Cheering at a pep rally is Susan Padilla. Cheerleaders practiced daily to perfect a routine.

Trying to eat a licorice rope are Gabriel Muniz and Jeannine Rios. The licorice contest was difficult because of the wind and the size of the licorice.

Eating an apple together are Hubert Turner and Anna Martinez. Without the use of their hands, many contestants in this contest were unsuccessful.



After eating ice cream without his hands, Jimmie Hernandez smiles. Contestants in the contest were surprised by how dirty their faces got.

Anticipating the cream pie that was about to hit her in the face is Terry Robles. Contestants had to cover their clothes to keep them from getting dirty.

Spiritful crowds enjoy the homecoming pep rally. Crowds went to all the football games to support the school team.

Active Spartans

Schurr Spartans were up and moving throughout the day and participating in many activities.

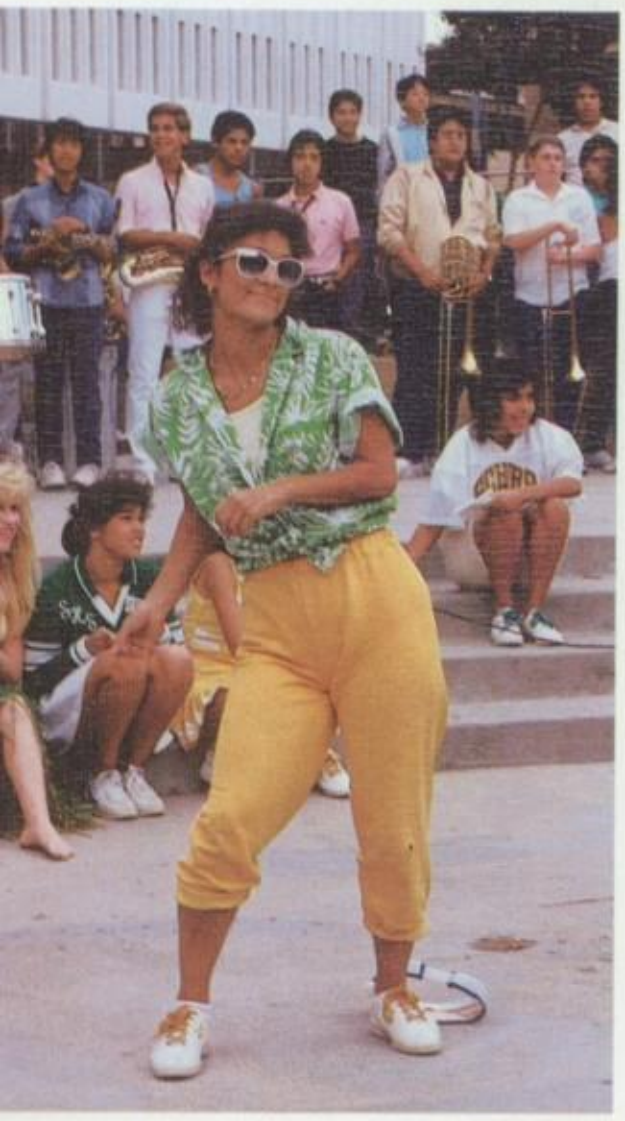
Director of Activities Glenn Sewell commented on how organizations were active. "There's never a day in which one organization or another had nothing planned."

But members of organizations were not the only people active. Paula Chan stated, "Everybody's a part of something, and some people are a part of everything. So I guess everyone's involved." Schurr students not only played a sport, but played the sport with determination to do the best they could. Maureen Quan commented, "We worked hard but we had a lot of fun."

The crowds that supported the sports teams shouldn't be forgotten. Leandro "Chy" Chayra remarked, "The crowd yelled encouragements when the football team was losing and cheered us on when the team was winning."

Spartans were not only outgoing, but were successful in doing their job.

Gemini



"Schurr students showed their spirit by attending the sports games in which our teams played."

Flavia Andrade

Moving into the groove of her routine is Kim Gioia. Hours were spent to make this routine.

Seniors

The class of '86 was a very special example of pride and unity. Together, they worked through their school years and with unfaltering determination, they made it through high school.

The shining senior class proved their "greatness" wasn't all talk. During Homecoming, they won the mummy wrap, wheelbarrow race, and the licorice and apple-eating contest.

Seniors were teaming with energy and enthusiasm. They were set on making the class of '86 memorable and they did! Their memories, friendships and triumphs all added up to one electrifying year.

Senior Year: THE FINAL CHAPTER

Senior year can't be forgotten because it is the last year seniors have the chance to participate in "high school" activities. It is their last year to take part in homecoming festivities, to cheer with the pepsters and band at the pep rallies, to watch the spirited football or basketball games and, in general, to savor different experiences that they will cherish for a long time.

Another experience that brings special meaning to senior year is the Prom. To explain what this memorable engagement meant to each senior would be impossible, but it is a dance that was special for the couples sharing this event as the perfect finale to all school dances.

However, senior year also played a different role in being the stepping stone from adolescence to the responsibilities of adulthood. During the school year, all seniors had to take Contemporary Living, in which they learned about the responsibilities that come in adult life. Serious college bound seniors tackled the SAT and AP tests, while they also were busy sending applications to colleges or planning other goals.

Senior Cabinet member Alicia Garcia explained her perspective of senior year, in which "you undergo different pressures, like dealing with rejection from colleges. Overall it's real significant because it's the epitome of your whole high school education." However, senior Elizabeth Pinto explained how the year had been different by saying, "I seem to have a different outlook on life now. I think I've grown more in the past years and have gotten to know people better and myself better."

The most important events in making the senior year more significant than others were the pre-graduation activities which showed that the end would be near. Among the highlights of these senior activities were Senior Ditch Day, Grad Night and Vespers. Then came the day that seniors had been waiting for since their first day of school: Commencement.

Senioritis Strikes Again!

Every year a slowly creeping illness permeates the school and hits students of all grades. The symptoms begin in an early, mild form, progress to a latent period, and then to the final, deadly stage. The results of this disease are deadly. The deceptive name of the disease — senioritis.

At the beginning of each school year, some students return reluctantly. The excitement left over from summer vacation has not left them. They want to prolong this feeling, but they have to go to school. It is at this time that the earliest stage of senioritis begins.

This stage is marked by slipshod work turned in to teachers. Assignments are done, but not much effort is put into them. The feeling is there to try, but this is the only reason that the assignment is done at all. Perhaps a punishment might arise if the assignments are not completed. This early stage of senioritis begins between September and November. "Senioritis is what a senior is all about. I feel fired up," said Virginia Lazalde.

The next stage of the illness arises between December and January. This is called the latent period because of the many days off from school. There are Christmas Vaction, New Year's Day and Martin Luther King's birthday. It takes three months for student to finally get over the fun from summer vacation. They recogniz the fact that their grades are dropping, and something must b done in order to give them a boost. This period is distinguished by rise in quality of work, indicating effort and planning. Student tend to do better at this time because if they do not, parents an teachers would be very angry. If they do their work, parents will no object to their going to parties and concerts. Enthusiasm in schoo work and the festive season mark a period when senioritis seems t disappear.

However, this stage passes very quickly. Most students ar averse to returning to school after vacation. According to John Rodarte, "When I come back from vacation, I get ready for June." The happy moments of Christmas vacation are changed into th busy schedule of school work and activities. This final stage take place in February and lasts until the end of June when schoo finally lets out. There is not much to look forward to at this time Summer vacation is months away. The prom is months away, th very few days that are celebrated, like the Presidents' Birthdays ıster vacation and Memorial Day, provide little time for relax-on and fun. Enthusiasm is lost. Some continue to do assignments cause they care about their grades, but some just give up com-etely. Students fall asleep in class, do not know what is happening ıen called upon, and usually do not care one way or the other.

ril Vigil commented, "After senior ditch day, every day is senior ch day."

Another reason for senioritis is that some students are already cepted to schools and grades just do not matter anymore. Others ow that they are not going to school after this year, so nothing atters to them. They plan to go to work or just "mess around."
me students begin to ditch classes, avoiding the responsibilities a student.

Senioritis is a deadly disease that strikes students each year.
mptoms all point to the lack of interest for all school work and tivities. Although many studies have been done to find a cure for ioritis, it is yet to be discovered.

Mona Wu

Electrifying Seniors

During the last year in high school, seniors rush to try anything and everything before graduating. They want to attend the Christmas Ball, the prom and, of course, Grad Night at Disneyland. They want to attend all their last football games and other sports events. They want their class rings, their senior t-shirts, and all sorts of other memoirs. But with all these extra luxuries also comes a big price to pay.

Yet the price is well worthwhile. After three hard years of labor, (yes, labor), seniors finally get a chance to break away from studies. With college or other plans to look forward to, most seniors try to make the most out of their last year.

Most don't have the time to sit and calculate expenses. They just pay as it comes. Some may find these expenses trivial, but that is only because they don't pay them all at once.

To start the year, seniors were sure to get their senior portraits taken. They got all dressed up and made sure they were picture perfect. This all, of course, for a not so small price — approximately $100.

Then they made sure that they bought their last high school annual, which cost $20 at the beginning of the year and went up to $35 by the end.

Then came Homecoming with its treats. Seniors enjoyed their last high school delicasies like teriyaki, rice balls, pizza, and hamburgers. They also bought their senior t-shirts. However, the money-spending day was not over. Most attended the game that night to watch the victorious team. Afterwards, they went to their ever-popular hang-outs and used up the last of their left-over change.

After all the fun and games came the big tests: the SAT, ACT, achievement and Advanced Placement Tests. Fees for each test ranged from $11 to $50. The total cost can really shock a person.

Then there was the cost of applying to colleges and universities. This was really expensive depending on how many schools the senior decided to apply to. Most universities charged $35 for each application. Many seniors applied at three or more universities. All this college stuff was a pain for most seniors.

Some expenses were purely for leisure, so the seniors didn't seem to mind as much, but they were just as expensive: their last Christmas Ball, the Prom, and Grad Night. Girls had to buy elegant dresses and other accessories. Dresses ranged from $50 to $200. The guys had to take care of a few extra things. Most rented their suits and tuxedos for approximately $80. They bought the bids, which cost $16, the pictures, which ranged from $10 to $30, and, of course, the corsage which also cost a small fortune. Some guys went all-out and even rented cars. Either before or after the ball, they went out for dinner. Most preferred fine dining at expensive restaurants, but this also cost the guy a bit more.

Finally came commencement and graduation. Seniors bought their caps and gowns to prepare for this event. They also purchased their graduation pictures. From the beginning of the year to the very end, most seniors spent more than they could imagine.

What Do Freshmen Think

After all the talk from seniors about "freshmen this" and "freshmen that," it's about time that the freshmen get their say about what they think about Seniors. Here's what a few brave freshmen think about seniors:

"Some are cool, but most think they're bad."

Alex Sahagun

"They think that they can rule the school. They try to act bad."

Chris Torres

"They're ugly and their mothers dress them funny!"

Adam Rios

"What do I think about Seniors? I don't."

Albert Areva

"Seniors should look up to us. After all, we are th awesome class of '89."

Maurice Guttiere

"They act like they're bad. Some are o.k. though.

Akira Matsu

"They're o.k. I think that they treat us pretty wel but it usually depends on the situation."

Vivian Lia

Pulling with all his might during the tug-of-war, USB President John Rodarte attempts to win the competition. It must have worked, because the seniors won the battle.

Doing her best to finish a difficult layout, Jackie Borja does a thorough job. Being on the Spectrum staff was a trying time for all involved.

Quazy Quiz

Just when you thought Schurr was a straight school, things change. Here are some "quazy questions".

ATHLETES

1. Which Varsity football player burnt a hole in his hair his freshman year during metal shop?
2. Which 4-year running back was given the nickmane "H.R. Puff 'n' stuff"?
3. Which girl (track, cross country, and basketball athlete) tripped down the stairs at the Ahmanson Theatre and was called "Aunt Bunny" the rest of the school year?
4. What 4-year drill teamer was yawning in Mr. Olague's class and let out a loud burp?
5. Which Varsity football player, while laughing hard, saw his fake front tooth fall out in front of everybody?

TEACHERS

6. What teacher uses a toilet bowl as a hallpass?
7. Which Drivers Ed. teacher drinks two cups of coffee a day and loves to give dots to people for talking?
8. What lady P.E. teacher was asked to see her USB card while entering a football game?
9. Which two teachers take their students to Bob's Big Boy for the final exam?
10. What computer teacher was given the name "Papa Smurf" by his lovable students?
11. In whose classroom did someone hang underwear on the flagpole?

TEAMS

12. In which sophomore football game did the quarterback trip over his feet while dropping back for a pass? (HINT: '83-'84 season)
13. What team sport has tournaments in Big Bear and Quartz Hills and gets to sleep in classrooms?
14. In which Varsity football game did Hubert Turner score a touchdown two seconds before halftime when people were leaving to the snackstands?
15. In which track meet did the mile runners have to run over again to break the tie score?
16. In which baseball game did Paul Guerrero trip, roll, and stumble over the bases on a "would-be homerun"?
17. In which volleyball game was Aimee To, while talking to her coach, hit by the ball and knocked flat on her back on a game point serve?

STUDENTS

18. What senior student during his sophomore year tripped and fell down the bleachers at a football game behind his girlfriend, and later tried to blame it on Dorene Rivera?
19. What senior student while doing the E.T. step with her friend stepped over her feet and fell on her behind?
20. Which senior girl during her freshman year fell flat on her face on the "C" Building steps in front of the Varsity football players, who then applauded her?
21. Which ex-cheerleader yelled out, "Touchdown !!!" and led her fellow cheerleaders to the endzone, although there was not a touchdown?
22. What senior student broke his leg when tackled by seven and eight year olds?

"Excuse me, will you or will you not take this person to be your lawful wedded spouse?"

"Huh?"

This is the typical life of a senior taking Contemporary Living. It was a class where seniors learned about the "real world." The teachers made them aware of what their parents go through and feel guilty for borrowing money, the Mercedes, and the credit cards from their parents.

They taught them everything from getting married to getting divorced.

Some found Contemporary Living rewarding. For instance, if a senior needed a date for the prom, he could just ask his spouse and for sure she'd go with him — if not, get ready to file for divorce!

Reflections of the Past

Laughter and tears, joys and sorrows sum up a career at Schurr for many seniors. With graduation just around the corner, seniors reflected upon the past four years.

"I've had a great time these past four years, I learned that teachers make as many mistakes as students."

Mona Wu

"It was like one gigantic cram."

Kathy Sasaki

"It has been as easy as trying to shove an elephant into a shoe box."

Senior Bleeps & Blunders

Oops! Another victim has fallen into the trap of the inescapable senior "embarrassing moments." Many of these poor unfortunate souls have lived through this tragedy to tell others of their terrible experience. Here is what some survivors have to say:

"I fell down the stairs at the Ahmanson Theater when we were there and Jackie Borja called me "Aunt Bunny" for the rest of the year."

Janice Williams

"My most embarrassing moment was during Drivers Education. The teacher told me to stop at a yellow light and the car went into a skid in front of the school."

Gloria Zamora

"One time, I was in P.E. taking a shower and they stole all my clothes and threw them outside. I had to run out in a towel in front of everyone. It was totally embarrassing!"

Leonard Purvis

"I was going to first period and I fell down the stairs coming from P.E."

Christine Garcia

"My most embarrassing moment is when I was a freshman. I was running up 'C' building to Health and Safety and I tripped and fell!"

Sylvia Lopez

"One of my most embarrassing moments was when I was a freshman and the band director, Mr. Ulrich, taped my mouth and head to stop me from talking, in front of the whole band!"

David Brownstein

"I almost fell down the stairs of 'C' building. Luckily for me, it was during lunch and no one saw."

Roxanne Heard

"When I was in Mr. Olague's class, I was yawning and I burped really loud and everyone turned around to stare at me."

Kathy Atchinson

"Someone flashed right in front of me."

Azniv Gaghindjian

"I pulled down my underwear instead of my leotard when I was in gymnastics and that was embarrassing."

Lilia Amunatigui

"Losing to Kepple in 1984."

Joe Lira

"Never had one."

Seniors Guide

Have you ever wondered how seniors survive four long, tiring, nerve-racking, but altogether unforgettable years in this institution that is popularly known as high school? Well, you no longer need to wonder because several more-than-willing seniors offered their "wise advice."

Speaking of the challenge of grades and courses, many seniors suggested that underclassmen keep up their studies and work very hard. This way, they will have nothing to regret when they graduate.

On the other hand, Robert Rivers had a totally different idea, but perhaps the most widely practiced, "Don't do your work!!!"

Others supported the idea of getting involved and having school spirit. For example, Sonia Jara said, "Enjoy your years here at Schurr. Have fun and be proud of this school. Get the best out of your classes and have pride."

A few seniors cautioned underclassmen against mingling with them. Oscar Chacon stated, "I suggest they stay out of our ay." John Quijada offered simple but very direct dvice, "Don't even talk to me!"

Advice was also given on miscellaneous things. athy Atchison's wise words were, "Think before ou party." Lilia Amunatigui spoke as one of the any who have experienced the "traffic" in the uildings when she said, "Walk fast when you're 1 'C' building, or else you'll be run over." Lily arate's words of warning were, "Don't eat in the afeteria."

Several mischievious seniors gave very 'valuable' advice. Yvonne Valenzuela said, "Learn to fake your mother's signature." Sharon Chung commented, "If you decide to cheat, don't get caught." Duhita Bhakta stated, "Intercept your report card before your parents get it!"

Elizabeth Carol Burt seemed to sum it all up with her simple statement. "Enjoy life, because life's too short!"

What are you doing in the year 2000?

As seniors approach graduation, many have their goals planned and are determined to accomplish them. Some have even started to predict what they will be doing in the future. Many were startled at first and others were indecisive. In time they came up with these varied responses:

"Pro basketball player, successful bachelor and living in Beverly Hills."

Alan Nomorosa

"I shall hopefully be the anchor for the Channel 7 night Eyewitness news, married and styling it."

Susan Padilla

"Have a perfect husband, be rich, healthy, and living happily."

Lily Zarate

"Driving a Pink Ferrari with a beautiful oriental woman."

Giovanni Alvarenga

"I'll be in France filming a million dollar epic for Paramount pictures."

George Arizmendez

"I'll be kicking back in my New York penthouse with a lot of money and no problems to worry about."

Israel Bran

"Being married to a Blond, Blue Eyed, Buffed Beach Boy."

Jackie Borja

"I'll probably own my own business and have a nice house."

Cynthia Quiroz

"Hopefully, I'll still be around. If so, I hope that no matter what I am doing I will be enjoying it."

Alice Garcia

"Fashion designer, traveling around the world, married to a real estate agent and having a home in Paris."

Yvette Chacon

"Working, have one kid, married, self-made lawyer."

David Chen

"Be a millionaire and be living in Bel Air, with a pool and a few Porsche."

Sylvia Juarez

"Be a commercial artist, living in Paris and owning the latest Porsche."

Michael Berru

"Taking care of my three children and my sweet, gorgeous lovable husband."

Pat Gomez

"I want to be a smart bum on skid row."

Brent Liu

"In the future, I hope to be the smartest billionaire in the world."

Sam Kung

"I don't know. I really don't like to think about the future."

NMSC awards seven seniors Letters of Commendation for outstanding PSAT performance

Seven seniors scored in the top 5% of all juniors who took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and were awarded Letters of Commendation by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Among those students honored were Nancy Gondo, Sam Kung, Brent Liu, Cassandra Pieratt, John Rodarte, Kathy Sasaki, and Lulu Wong.

Gondo, who is an active member of CSF, JSA, varsity tennis and Vocal Ensemble, admitted that "lots of cramming the night before" helped her obtain her score of 179. She would like to go on to a "good liberal arts college" and major in either psychology or communicaions.

NHS treasurer Kung, with an impressive score of 188, stated that his first reaction when he heard the news of his score was , "Wow and Whoopee!" Kung, who plays on the varsity tennis team, hopes to attend either UCLA or UC Berkeley and major in Computer Engineering.

Scoring a 185 on the PSAT was Lui, who is also active in CSF and tennis and is NHS historian. Liu was grateful for the help of Mr. Clark Barrett and stated that, "memorizing those vocabulary cards" helped him prepare for the test. Liu's plans include going to college and majoring in medical science.

"I was very shocked when I heard my score!" exclaimed Pieratt. Pieratt, who scored, "I think a 186," said that the summer workshop really helped. She is active in Spartan Scroll as well as CSF. After graduation, Pieratt plans to attend Biola College.

Student Body President Rodarte was "pleased and shocked" by his score of 187. Rodarte, who is on the varsity foot ball team, is active in many campus orga nizations. He was also named as a semi finalist in the National Hispanic Scholar ship program for his outstandin performance on the PSAT. This fall, Ro darte will be attending Harvard Universi ty and majoring in pre-med.

Future marine biologist Sasaki state rather unhappily, that she will "probabl be in school for the rest of (her) life." A the former president of Beyond Terra Sasaki enjoys science and hopes to atten UC San Diego and obtain her doctorate i Marine Biology.

Wong, with the highest score of 19 admitted that, "after a certain point, w sort of knew who won what." Wong, Ed torial Editor for the Scroll and Presider of CSF, plans to attend a university afte graduation and major in English. He main goal is to get a degree and become lawyer.

All of the students attributed part o their success to the PSAT workshop o fered to juniors and seniors at schoo which is conducted by Mr. Jerry Harve and Barrett. Principal James Dougla said, "All of our students are outstandin and deserving of these honors."

Lisa Itamur

Is there no limit to what she can do?

Because of her outstanding performance on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, Maureen Quan was named as a National Merit Scholarship semi-finalist.

Hoping to become a finalist in the NMSP on the basis of her high school academic record and SAT score, Quan tried for one of the 1,800 scholarships worth $2000.

To become a semi-finalist, Quan had to score in the 99th percentile of all juniors taking the PSAT.

Quan, who scored a 215 on the PSAT was both "happy and honored" to be named a semi-finalist. She commented, "Schurr has a very good English department and the classes really helped. I'm very thankful to Mr. Clark Barrett for all of his help."

Selected by the teachers of the science department, Quan also received the Bausch & Lomb Science Award. As the winner, Quan received a bronze medal and became eligible for a four-year Bausch & Lomb Science Scholarship at the University of Rochester in New York.

As if all this were not enough, she was the vice-president of the California Scholarship Federation and the editor-in-chief of the Spartan Scroll. She had been on the tennis team for all four years and this year was a varsity player. She was also in choir for four years, two years in A Cappella and two years in Vocal Ensemble.

The multi-faceted Quan was active in not only academics, but also campus organizations, sports and music. Quan was chosen Junior Citizen of the Month by the Masonic Lodge for her academic achievements, and received a Harvard Book Award.

By January this year, Quan had been accepted to Yale, U.C.L.A. and U.C. Berkeley, but was waiting to hear from Stanford, her first-choice.

Taking a break from her busy schedule, Maureen Quan stops to smile after being named a National Merit semi-finalist. Quan also was awarded the Bausch & Lomb Science Scholarship.

Gonzalez, Lew, To regain Brain Bowl

With the Brain Bowl victory behind them, Brian To, Warren Lew and Alex Gonzalez contemplate college applications and other aspects of senior life still to come.

In the fourth semi-annual Brain Bowl mpetition held in the Montebello High hool library, the three-man team from hurr placed first among the four district h schools.

A wide range of questions was asked of four teams, and at the end of the competition Schurr came out on top with a score of 26 points. In second place was Montebello with a score of 13 points. Bell Gardens and Vail placed with scores of seven and one point, respectively. Schurr's record in the Brain Bowl is now three wins out of four.

Representing Schurr was the team of Alex Gonzalez, Warren Lew and Brian To, under the coaching of Mr. David Lebow.

Commenting on the toughness of the competition, Gonzalez said, "I think we did really well. I don't think we were the smartest team, but we were the most aggressive of all the teams there."

Commenting on the Brain Bowl, Principal James Douglas stated, "It's intended to be both a fun event and an attempt to show off the academic part of each school. I think that it has been very beneficial in both of these areas." Douglas also added, "I was proud of the showing that our students made, proving that Schurr High is number one."

Hubert Turner smiles after being named homecoming king. Turner was active in both football and basketball this year.

Turner named first team All-State

Being named first team All-State, first team All-Southern California, first team All-Rio Hondo Valley and All-West Valley Player of the Year has made Hubert Turner "all" he has ever wanted to be as an athlete.

And if that weren't enough, Turner also broke the record for most yardage for a pass receiver in CIF history.

The 6'1", 185 pound veteran Spartan did make the first team All-League, was named Foothill League Player of the Year and was pictured in a one-page spread in the Los Angeles Times as L.A. Times Back of the Year.

Turner began playing Spartan Football as a sophomore. At the end of that season he was named Best Defensive Player of the Year by the coaches. Because of an injury Turner was out most of the season last year. He continued to participate in the team practices and summer workouts to come back in 1985 as one of the most honored athletes this school has ever had.

Turner, who also played on the varsity basketball team, was named by his classmates as "Most Athletic" this year. His plans for the future include going to college and majoring in physical therapy or sports medicine.

When asked if he planned to play college football, Turner replied, "Yes, I'd like to continue to play football, but I don't plan on making a career out of it."

In closing Turner added, "I would really like to thank the coaching staff, Eric, the offensive line and everyone who supported the Spartans."

Debbie Sato

Briefly . . .

Abel Hernandez attained Eagle Scout status, the highest honor awarded to a boy scout. Because of his achievement, Hernandez was selected as a banner carrier for the 1986 Rose Parade.

Jackie Borja was named "Junior Miss Montebello." As the representative for Montebello, Borja travelled to northern California to participate in the state wide competition in January.

The Masonic Order's "Junior Citizen of the Month," awarded to outstanding seniors bimonthly, was received by September honoree John Rodarte, November honoree Lulu Wong, and January honoree Maureen Quan.

The Montebello Elks club presented the Student of the Month award to John Rodarte for September, Lulu Wong for October, Randy Chew for November, and Maureen Quan for December. The award included a plaque and a $100 savings bond.

Energy

Growing Energy . . . the potential energy possessed by all underclassmen, enabling them to achieve their full potential.

The energy of each class intensifies and brightens as it gains knowledge and experience. The juniors have had time to develop and prepare to take on their senior year. Their enthusiasm and unbridled spirit show their readiness to take over the senior class. The sophomores, who have had a chance to settle into the energy flow of school are entering into their last year of being underclassmen. Our biggest freshman class is the future of our school. Freshmen generally adjusted to the new atmosphere of high school with ease.

Overall, the underclassmen, who represent the majority of the student body, contribute much of the vitality and spirit of the school.

The Preppy Class of '87

This year's juniors were unlike any other juniors in the past years. The Class of '87 was more organized and planned ahead. Patty Yabutani noted, "We planned early and we knew what we were doing." By doing so, they were able to make enough money to not only hold a prom, but plan for a Class of '87 trip.

The cabinet this year had sponsored the junior-senior prom, which was held at the Newporter in Newport Beach. They raised most of the funds for the prom in their first two years at Schurr by selling gummi bears, blow-pops, and M&M's. But the junior class not only sold food. They sponsored the Spring Fling and a 5k run. From all the fundraisers, about $5000 was raised for the prom.

This year, the junior cabinet held more candy sales and sponsored a dance. They raised more money than needed for the prom so they started planning for an activity that all the juniors can participate in, and they were also planning to give out scholarships.

When asked to describe the class and cabinet, Vice President Gail Quan commented, "Every cabinet member worked hard and attended all the meetings. We got help on the fundraisers from not only the cabinet, but from other students in the class. We were united more than other classes." President Michelle Miyakawa continued complimenting the Class of '87 with, "I think our cabinet is really efficient. We are the leading class in terms of spirit."

Teachers do funny things

Whether intentional or not, you probably have had one experience or another in which you did something and other people laughed. Here are a couple in which a teacher did something funny enough that a student remembered the experience.

"When I was in drivers' education, Mr. Griggs kept calling me Grace and I wouldn't answer because I would think he was talking to someone else. He must have thought I was really dingy because I didn't answer to my 'name.' But after two weeks, I got used to it."

Rosanna Vasquez, 12

Benny Chen, 9

Being the only one in gymnastics at school, Keith Suzuki looks confident. Organization of his time made it possible for him to continue practicing the sport.

One Man Team?

Although we don't have a gymnastics team, one of Schurr's juniors practices gymnastics whenever he can during his busy schedule. His name is Keith Suzuki.

At age ten, Suzuki started gymnastics training. Through hard work and determination, he was ranked second in state competition in 1981. Although his high school work takes much of his time, Suzuki practices twelve hours weekly.

He hopes to attend the 1986 national competition and perhaps win a scholarship for his achievements.

When asked to comment if Schurr should have kept their gymnastics team, Suzuki questioned, "If we have a swimming team without a pool, why not have a gymnastics team when we have the equipment?"

Favorite Class

Different students like different subjects. Some like math, science, or art. Favorite classes are liked for various reasons, from the teacher to the subject. Regardless of the subject, if it's what you like, it doesn't matter whether anyone agrees with you. A few students around campus were asked the BIG question . . . What's your favorite subject and why?

"Probably chemistry because Ms. Kaestner is so funny and it sounds interesting."
Leslie Gruhn, 11

"I think it was architecture because Mr. Traeger was a great, funny teacher."
Alan Somphone, 11

"I don't have any."
Anonymous

"Cooking, because the food made in there was better than the cafeteria food."
Yumi Yoshihara, 11

"Math, because it's challenging and the problems always have a definite answer."
Lanette De Lise, 12

Senior expectations

What do underclassmen look forward to in their senior year? Read on!

"I look forward to playing all varsity sports."

Kenny Seto, 11

"Getting over the SAT, applying to colleges, getting accepted, and not having to worry about it."

Wayne Song, 11

"I look forward to graduating and the realization that I've just completed 12 years of 'education,' which is more than half of my life."

Naomi Chan, 11

"Looking forward to getting a car and to be more involved in the Homecoming activities."

Alene Sen, 11

"Once I become a senior I'll have a really bad case of senioritis and that's that. I'm looking forward to indulging in it."

Karen Tse, 11

"I'm looking forward to graduation, meeting new people, and fulfilling all my widest personal goals."

Richard Katekawa, 11

Memories of Driver's Ed and Training

Every year all sophomores are required to take Driver's Ed and behind-the-wheel training. From this class, many funny and embarrassing memories arise.

"During behind-the-wheel, instead of turning the signal on I turned on the windshield wipers."

Jean Michiuye, 11

"I remember being terrified when this certain girl, who shall remain anonymous, got behind the wheel and nearly hit a parked car."

Marlene Escareno, 11

"We almost had an accident when my friend Sandy was trying to change lanes and the other cars wouldn't let her in."

After finishing her classwork, Laura Orozco closes her book. This year's juniors were organized in what they did.

Dedicated Cabinet Members

Wanted: Students of the Class of '88 who are organized, dedicated, and willing to spend time for fundraisers — students who want to become involved with other students in their class. If you fulfill the above requirements, you are qualified to become a cabinet member.

According to Greg Clapp, "Cabinet members are dedicated. At times we went to each other's houses to plan for an upcoming event. We also stayed after school and gave up some weekends."

"Getting organized is a hard job," noted Marlene Wong. But, commented Ursula White, "This year was more organized than last year." "Cabinet members spent half an hour the first and third Wednesday of each month talking to advisers," remarked vice-president Kim Hirano. Paul Chavez did not seem to mind, "It was quite fun being able to plan events."

According to Sandy Okamoto, "Our main concern was to earn money for the prom." President Heather Sarni agreed, "We worked very hard for next year's seniors to have a good prom." Noted Stephanie Tanaka, the Class of '88 became united and earned money for the prom by having a "car wash, pizza sale, button sale, and candy sale." "It was nice to help the class for a change," commented Carol Sakai.

Reflecting on the cabinet, Secretary Dana Lee said, "We accomplished a lot this year."

Lily Zarate

Raising money for the sophomore class, Heather Sarn sells pizza during homecoming. Many organizations sol food in the senior park during homecoming.

Miss Something in Freshmen Year?

The freshmen year was an experience which some students wish to remember and other students forget. Students were asked what they missed most about being a freshmen.

"Everybody doesn't have the same trust as they did before."

Gregg Chayra, 10

"Not being expected to do a lot of things."

Bonnie To, 10

"Flirting with the senior guys. Now that I'm a senior, I'm too old for the underclass guys."

April Vigil, 12

"Typical" Students?

There are a wide variety of students at Schurr. However, sophomores were asked to describe the typical Schurr student.

"The typical Schurr student of today is one who takes all of his books home to do his homework and ends up not opening one."

Virginia Lopez

"I think there is no typical student. Everybody has different ideas and attitudes."

Shelly Fong

"He's got a lot of spirit, he's active in school, and takes pride in the things he does and strives for. He is also cheerful and has a positive attitude toward himself and his fellow classmates."

Javier Gonzales

"The typical Schurr student wears Levis, Vans, and a rock group T-shirt."

Eric Johannsen

"There is no 'typical' Schurr student. How could there be? Schurr students have many different backgrounds. Everyone dresses and acts differently. That's the best thing about Schurr, the many different kinds of people. The one thing all Schurr students have in common is that they're the best in whatever they do."

During a pep rally, Ron Verhoorn thinks about an upcoming test. The lulls between the skits gave students a chance to think of their next classes.

Getting Off the Ground

It takes a certain kind of spirit to make a cabinet work, and the freshman cabinet, led by president Colette Kovacs, vice-president Greg Patlan, and secretary Irene Miranda, proved they had what it took. During their first year, the inexperienced cabinet members did a lot of organizing. Carylann Miyano remarked, "We have a lot of plans, but it is hard to get it off the ground." Lynda Kim commented, "Mr. Sewell, Mr. Traeger, and Mr. O'Brien have been a great help."

But Patlan was confident of the freshman class. "I feel that this year's freshmen have a lot of spirit and potential for years to come ... if any of us puts our minds into it, we would accomplish miracles."

Time to go home?

Students are always being told what to do by their parents . . . especially about what time they should be home. Freshmen were asked whether their curfew changed or not now that they are attending high school.

"No, I never had a curfew."

Ryan Nishida

"Yes, from 10 to 7! REASON: H-O-M-E-W-O-R-K!!"

Lynda Kim

"No, my parents seem to think I know what I'm doing so they never bothered giving me a curfew."

Maria Pitallano

"Nah, man, my curfew never changes. It's always been 9:00 p.m. (bedtime) because my ma thinks I'm going to cause trouble and hang out with the wrong friends. I came home late one night and the woman thinks I got a girl pregnant. Cheez!"

What's Cool?

At one time or another, we have all had our images of certain people like rich, smart, or popular. The freshmen were asked for their image of "cool."

"cool ('kül) adj. great sense of style and looks. syn. Class of '89."

Lynda Kim

" 'Cool' is being an individual and doing things for yourself and not just because other people are doing it."

Brenda Tsiang

"Someone who 'looks' clean, pretty smart, is halfway decent, and has friends who are fun."

Connie To

"Doesn't act dumb."

Miguel Meza

"Not acting all bad and not being conceited."

Richard Distefano

"I think cool is wearing neat clothes, having a lot of friends, and having a good personality."

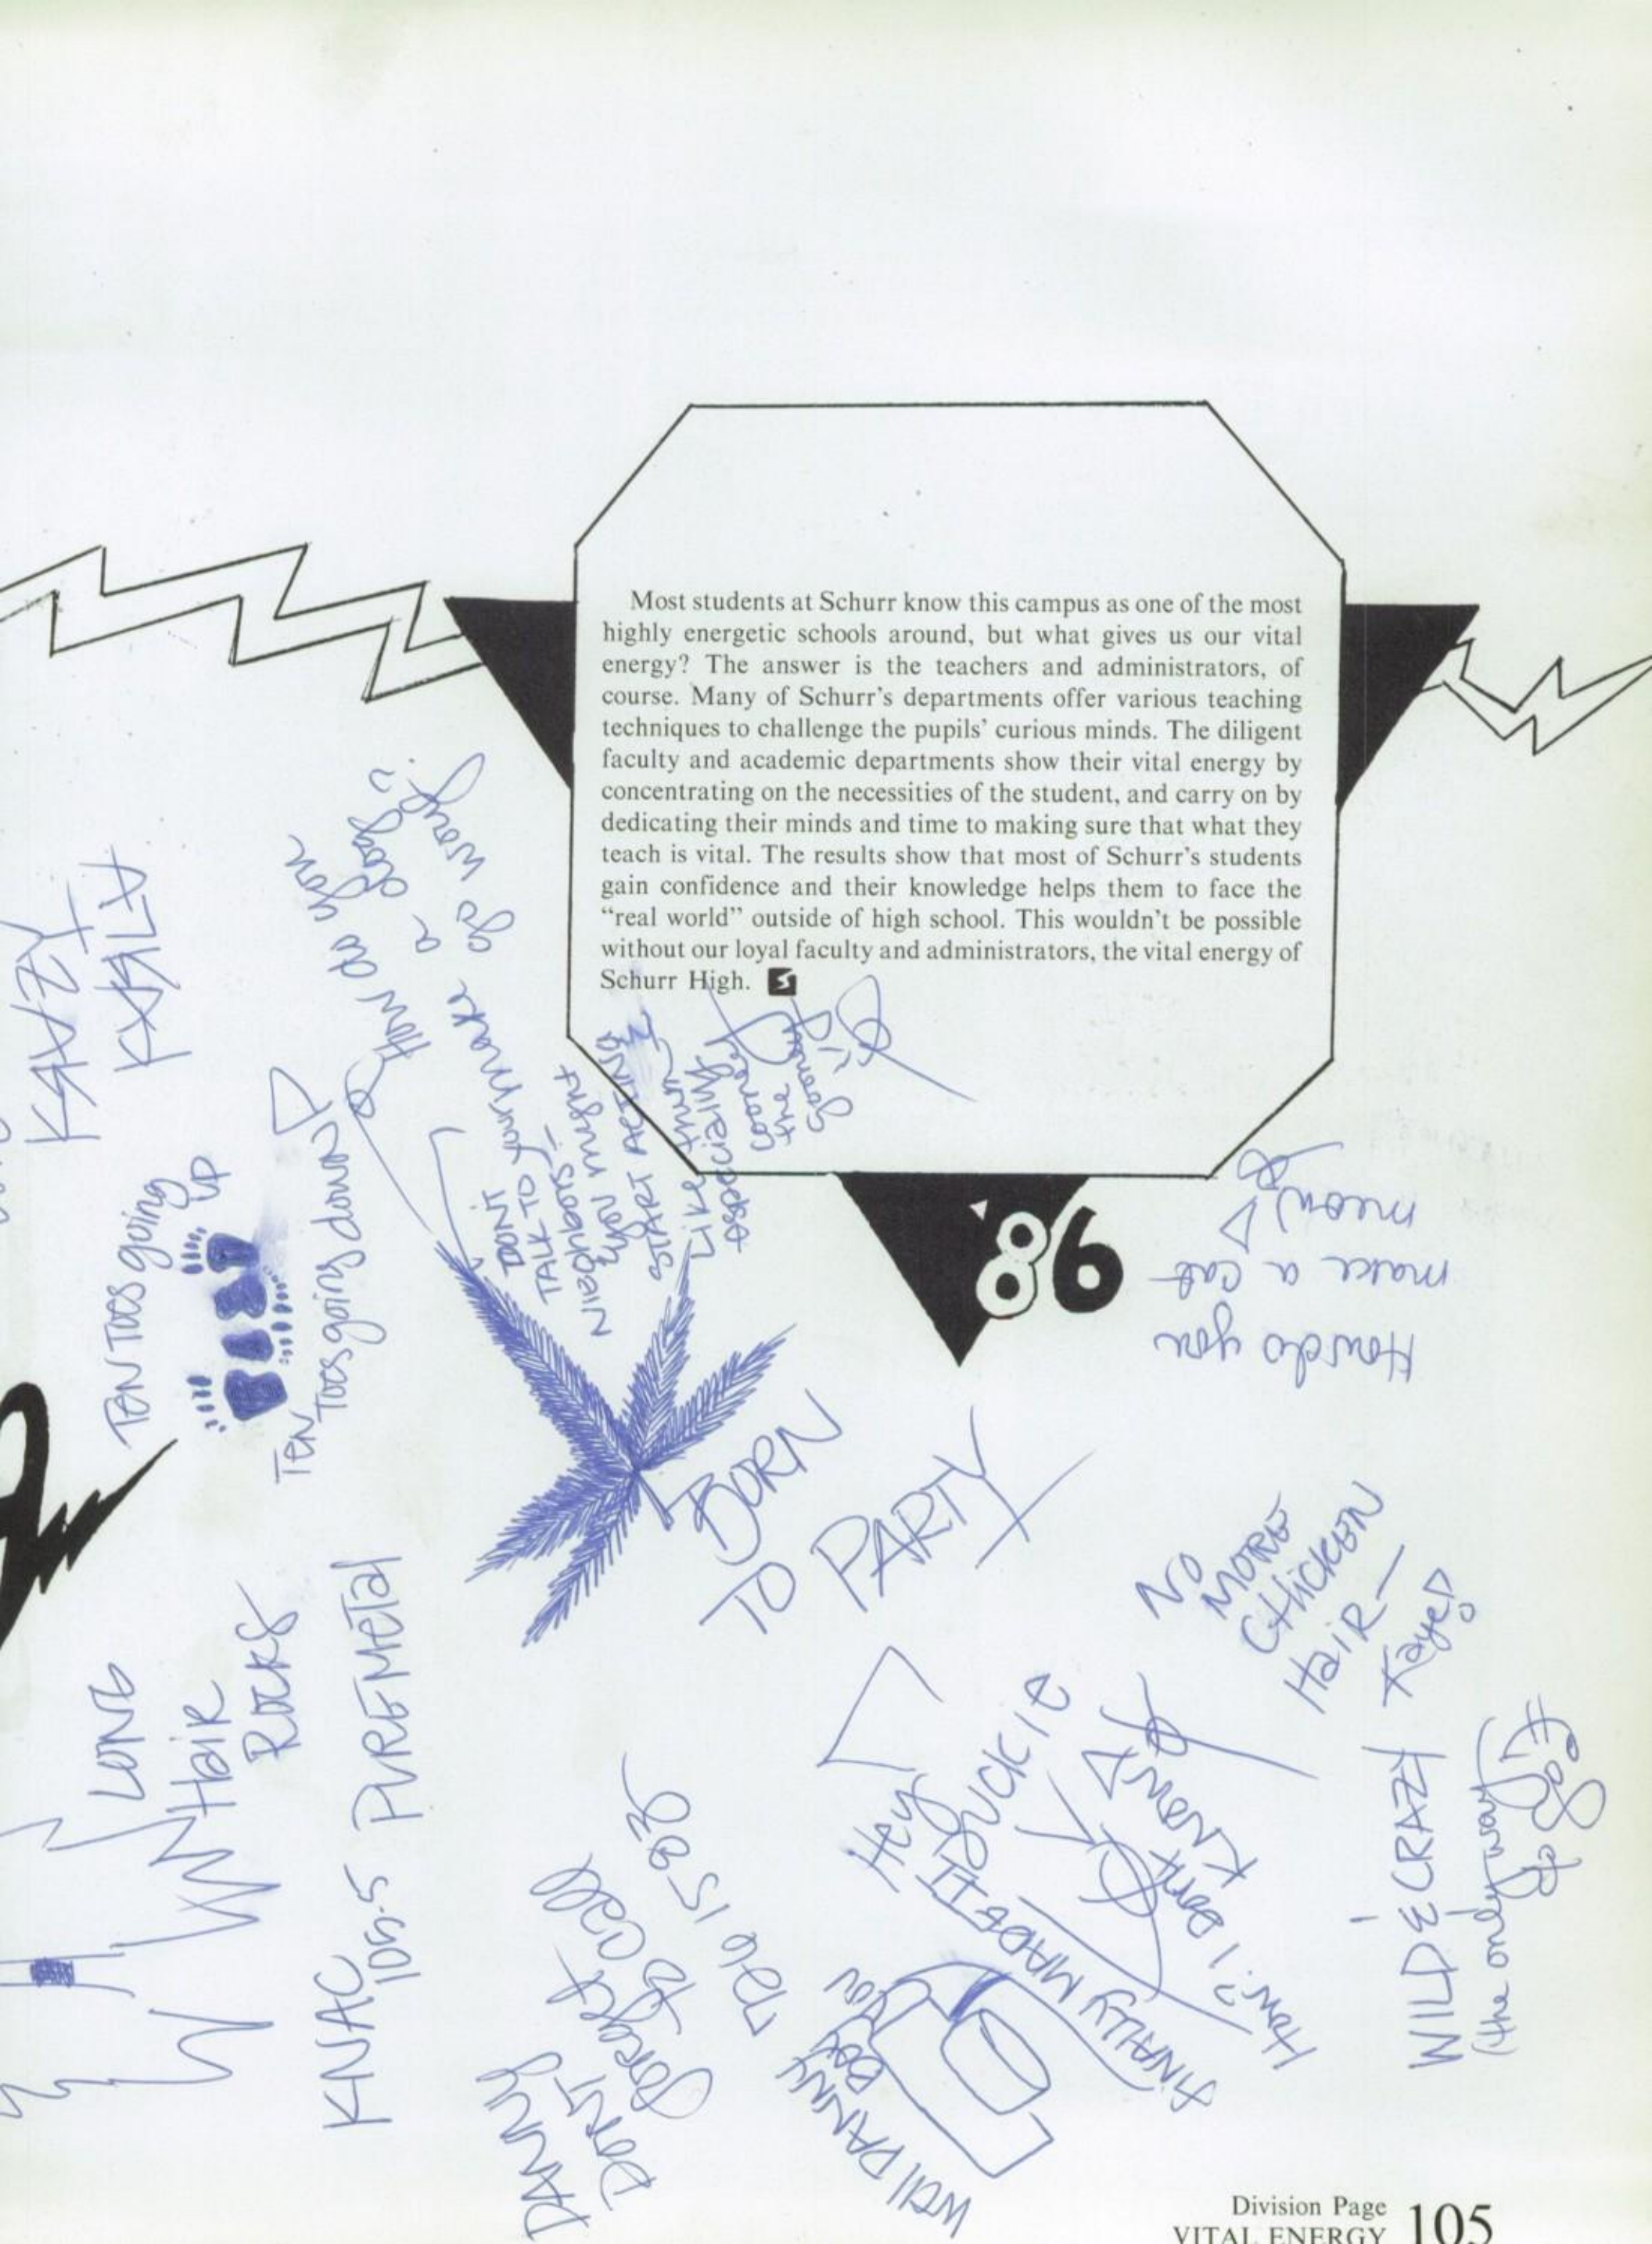
Most students at Schurr know this campus as one of the most highly energetic schools around, but what gives us our vital energy? The answer is the teachers and administrators, of course. Many of Schurr's departments offer various teaching techniques to challenge the pupils' curious minds. The diligent faculty and academic departments show their vital energy by concentrating on the necessities of the student, and carry on by dedicating their minds and time to making sure that what they teach is vital. The results show that most of Schurr's students gain confidence and their knowledge helps them to face the "real world" outside of high school. This wouldn't be possible without our loyal faculty and administrators, the vital energy of Schurr High.



High Energy

One of the ways to measure the true power of a substance is the amount of energy it can generate. All of us are aware of the tremendous power generated by small amounts of uranium.

Tremendous energy can also be generated by people dedicated toward the fulfillment of desired goals. The drive, stamina and purposefulness of people is the use of energy in another powerful way.

The pages of this yearbook have captured the spirit of true "Spartan Energy." You will see the students who have used their energy to make this a better school and who will some day direct these energies into a better society.

My compliments to the yearbook staff for capturing this "High Energy." I know you will feel it as you read on.

Making the Advanced Grade

As college entrance requirements have grown more stringent, Schurr has, in turn, consistently kept its students prepared for academics beyond high school. Advanced Placement (AP) classes are notable in that they actually place students on a college level of study.

Two new AP classes, biology and art history, were added to the curriculum this year. Along with the AP classes already offered, American literature, calculus, physics and U.S. history, these classes placed students in a college class atmosphere and prepared them for the AP tests as well as provided college preparation. Passing the AP test often gave students college credit or an exemption from taking the corresponding freshman course in college.

AP Calculus teacher, Julia Morita, explained that in order to prepare her students for the AP test she must, "cover all topics required by the College Board for a freshman calculus class." Morita added that her AP class is much more extensive than a regular calculus course.

"The AP symbol represents this (biology) course is part of the College Board program and is designed as a college freshman class," remarked Mike Rios, AP Biology teacher.

Although there is a different AP test for each of the six courses, the grading process is the same for each. On a scale of one to five, students who receive a three, four or five will generally receive college credit with a grade of "C" or better for the course. Some colleges or universities require students to score at least a four to be exempted from taking the corresponding college course.

Honors American Literature teacher, Lorrie Wellenstein, who prepared her students for the AP English Composition and Literature test, explained that the test is, "a way for students to compare themselves with students nationally, because a three on the AP English test is approximately a "B" in a college English class." She added that fifty-eight percent of the students in her class who took the test received a three or better in 1985, though she emphasized that any student who took the Honors American Literature class had the preparation for the test. In general, the decision to take a test is optional, but in AP Biology and AP Physics it was mandatory for students to take them.

The new AP Art History class was actually taught by a college teacher, art historian Betty Disney-Durko, while Harry Manos again taught AP Physics.

AP U.S. History teacher David Lebow commented that many students are entering college as sophomores. He concluded that since the AP tests are available, this "represents the mandate" that the school is responsible to offer the classes.

Elaine Wong

As another grading period ends, Harry Manos shows his students his next 6-week planning schedule. Upon coming to Schurr in 1984, Manos set up the current physics lab.

Smiling for the camera, Julia Morita, AP Calculus teacher, takes a short break from grading papers. Morita also taught math analysis and algebra.

Now She Can Vote!!!!!

Although French teacher Lynda Nuñez came to the United States six years ago, it was just this past year that she officially became a citizen of the United States.

Nuñez graduated from the Sorbonne University in Paris where she majored in English. Being educated in Europe, and having taught in England, she had a quite proper British accent. Nuñez commented, "I could not quite understand the English spoken in America. When I first heard someone over the phone, I was really confused."

To prepare for her citizenship test, Nuñez had to study U.S. History and Government. She also had her students say the "Pledge of Allegiance" every day to help her learn it.

"I was nervous because I knew I had to pass it, especially being a teacher. I studied hard. I started preparing for it as soon as I got my appointment scheduled," commented Nuñez.

When asked how it felt to be a United States citizen, she proudly said "It feels at home, like I really belong here." She also added, "Before, I paid taxes, yet I could not vote, but now I feel that I have more rights."

Students and teachers were pleased and excited for her. "The faculty members and students were nice to me and faculty members even threw a party for me during nutrition," said Nuñez.

Mrs. Nuñez has been teaching French for six years. When asked how she likes teaching at Schurr, she replied, "I love it!"

Taking a few minutes to think about the next day's schedule, Steve Terry finds time to be "Cool." Besides teaching, he has been coaching the girls' basketball and track teams.

Teacher's Pet Peeves

What are pet peeves? They roam from top to bottom throughout the school, and there is no way of banishing them from campus. Pet peeves are what most distract teachers, and every teacher has at least one.

"My whole third period class is filled with pet peeves!" exclaimed Yvonne Lindrum. She continued, "I told them 48 times what the assignment was, and there were only 38 students!"

As pet peeves lurch into more classrooms, computer teacher Bobby Smith remarked his pet peeves are "when students play with the keyboard or start the printer" during his lectures. Leon Larson remarked, "Students who waste time."

Some pet peeves are shared by many teachers. The most common is that students are not attentive enough.

"When I start talking, they start talking and they ignore me when I'm talking!" cried Gene Goebel. Feeling the same way, Julian Olague said the most distracting thing is when students "ask questions and don't listen," while Cindy Devers described hers as, "students who don't listen to directions and ask what I already said."

Pet peeves can also be found outside the classroom. Merlene Hill is distracted by "students who use the campus for passion to activate the hormones," and when students get in her way to lunch.

Cindy Cornejo, finding her pet peeve more amusing than annoying, said it was when "girls walk across the small gym in their high heels when the wrestling mats are rolled out."

Since the problem of pet peeves has not been solved, it just seems that they will be here to stay a little longer.

Head custodian Florentino Garcia rakes up the mess left over from homecoming. Garcia, like the other custodians at Schurr, played an important role in keeping the campus clean.

Super Trinibird to Rescue

Look!!! . . . Inside the locker room, it's ... it's Trinibird! Yes, it's Trinibird, disguised as Trinidad Yanez. She fights a never ending battle of equipment, gym clothes and change for the candy machine.

Yanez, after five years of working at Schurr, says that she would like to continue in her present job. She commented, "I like to hang around with the students. It's fun, and every year I get more friends." The friendships she has made in school are not confined to school hours only. Yanez claims that she crosses paths with her acquaintances out of school as well. She stated, "I see them everywhere I go, in church, at the market, and in the shopping malls."

About the staff, she commented, "I'm very happy with the teachers here. I appreciate their help very much." She then added, "They're all very special people to me."

But Yanez's job is far from all play, no work. Among her responsibilities are locking and opening the girls' locker room doors and issuing equipment, such as baseballs, bats, basketballs and the like. She also provides gym clothes, picks up belongings that have been left behind, and, ever so important, gives change for the candy, ice cream, and soft drink machines. She also keeps busy by tending the garden area beside the locker room. She said, "I've been watering the plants twice a week and they're growing very well."

She was "baptized" Trinibird last year because she works inside the cage-like structure in the locker room, and she reminded the girls of a bird in a bird cage. Also she cared for an injured pigeon which had fallen just outside the locker room. She nurtured it until it was well enough to fend for itself.

Anita Magallanes

Trini Yanez takes a short break from her daily chores. She was dubbed "Trinibird" by students last year, partly for working in her cage.

As first lunch is over, cafeteria worker Julia Ybarra organizes the ice creams for second lunch. Ice creams, milk, cookies and sandwiches were a few of the items sold in the speed lines.

Custodian Larry Ramirez shows that dumping the trash is certainly "dirty work." On the night shift, Ramirez worked around campus after school.

In the speed line, Norma Gonzales makes a quick transaction with cafeteria worker Carmen Ramirez to buy an ice cream sandwich, as friend Noemi Santana waits. The speed lines gave students a wider selection of foods to buy from than the regular cafeteria menu.

Joe Walker strums his guitar to show that music is expressed just as easily as words are.

Art teacher Judith Jurasek looks up a moment when she corrects Bertha Lopez's art work.

In wood shop, Genaro Suarez helps Henry Solis glue a piece of wood. Students used woodworking tools to make items like cabinets and grandfather clocks.

As the saying goes, "Practice makes perfect," so Carol Sakai and Dee Gareza practice their music with concentration. Marching band students were again active performing in parades and playing at football games.

As a solution to their problems, Alex Frias and Jose Cruz receive help from drafting teacher David Traeger.

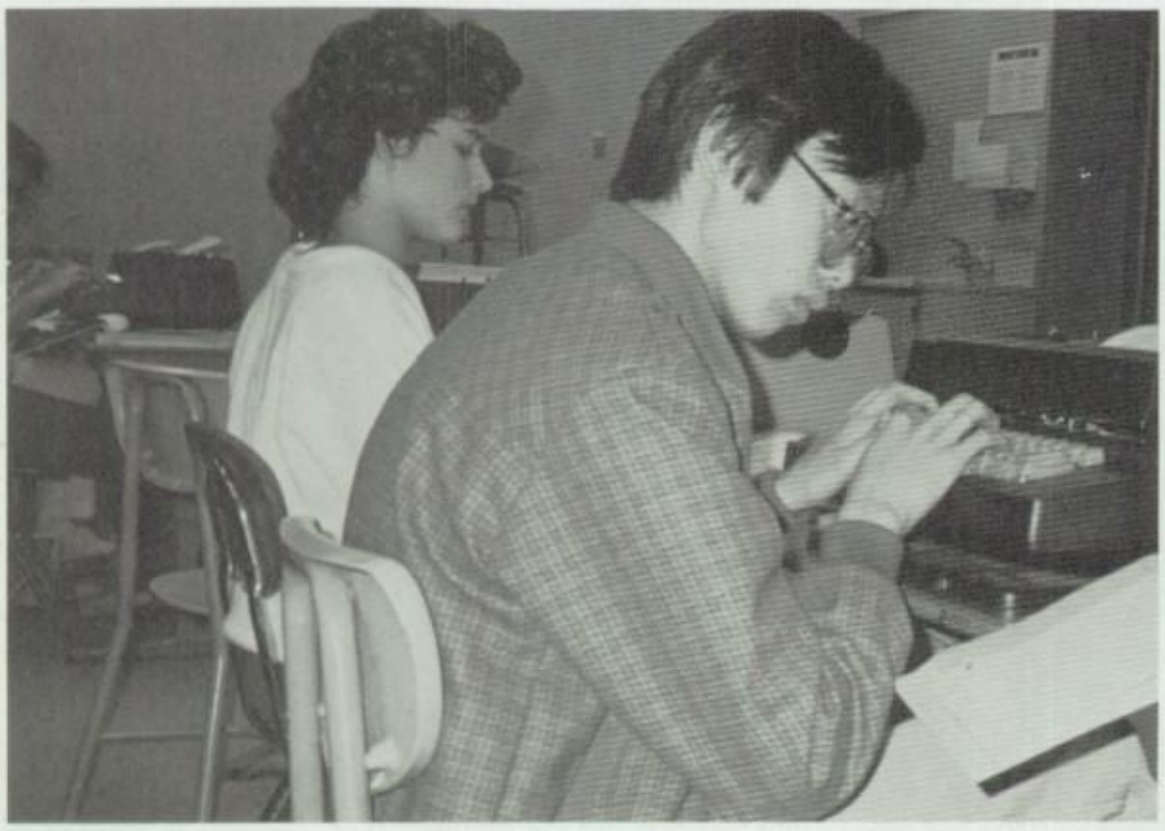
Trying to obtain some answers in William Pierce's computer class are computer whizzes Cindy Ngo and Phan Van. Ngo was also the president of the Computer Club.



Diligently working at his typewriter in Arlis McHenry's typing class is George Chen. Students in his class were able to master the skills of typing.

When student Victor Estrada asks a question, teacher Haleakala Adcock tries to give him an answer. Adcock's typing class was beneficial to many students.

"Helping" Terrence Devney beat the heat, Jay Thomson throws a bucket of water at him, while Chris Lord flinches and Stacy Honda looks on laughing. This was in revenge for Devney's earlier attack. (See pg. 112)

Humanities classes for seniors only!

Fulfilling the American government and social studies requirement, the Humanities course offered seniors the opportunity to learn through resources inside as well as outside the classroom.

Humanities teacher Richard Smith, who started the course 14 years ago at Montebello High School, explained the main objective of the course was developing the student to be "self-disciplined, having the ability to think, analyze and be creative."

Exposing students to all of the social sciences, the two-hour classes explored topics like anthropology, comparative religion, psychology, sociology and contemporary issues.

Fifteen speakers, each representing different religions, came to talk when classes started their studies on comparative religion. About 50 students performed volunteer work by working with the mentally handicapped at the local intermediate schools. They also took trips to the Huntington Library and Solvang.

"I feel special, I can be myself in Humanities and it relates to self-discipline. Yet there is a family tie with your classmates," commented senior Rene Trevino. "It's interesting," added senior Anthony Zuniga.

"We try to develop a very basic understanding to think not only about the present, but to think about ourselves," commented Humanities teacher Wilber Raisner.

ROP aids students through job training

Providing special skill training programs for students, the Regional Occupational Program (R.O.P.) is geared to make high school students more employable upon graduation.

ROP helps students learn job skills through in-class or on-the-job training. After completion, students have developed entry-level job skills.

Some ROP classes are offered as semester courses while others vary from one to two years. Classes are conducted on various high school campuses around the district and others at on-the-job training sites.

"Students who acquire these skills anywhere else have to pay a lot of money," stated ROP Technician Darlene Louden. "But we offer it free."

"ROP has helped me learn more about my career and future plans," said Antoinette Founten. Candy Itow agreed and said, "Taking Retail Sales is good experience and gives me a head start in the real world. Besides, this class gives me credits for graduation."

According to Louden, ROP has benefits for all kinds of people. Students who do not plan to attend college can get job training in high school. They will have work experience and it will be easier for them to get jobs. Students who plan to go to college and would like to get part-time jobs can get them much more easily.

For any student, ROP gives training, experience, a taste of a variety of occupations and ideas about different careers.

Grand Canyon Expedition

As students can seldom step outside the classroom to learn, the Grand Canyon Learning Expedition proved to be an enlightening but fun experience for this year's trip members.

Preparing for the Grand Canyon trip, members first went to the San Gabriel wilderness in January. Despite some injuries, students backpacked along Bear Canyon and learned what equipment would be necessary for the Grand Canyon. Finally, in Spring, members went to the Grand Canyon.

"To carry learning or science beyond the classroom was the purpose of the expeditions," explained adviser Toby Manzanares.

"You not only learn by listening but also by seeing and experiencing things," commented member Susan Kaibney. "Everyone by the end of the trip are close friends."

Although more students signed up to go on the expeditions than could be taken, Manzanares took the first thirty students who had accumulated the most points in club activities. Club activities involved raising money for trip expenses and student participation in actual trip planning.

Member Luz Romero described the expeditions as a different way of meeting people at school, but different from any other organizations on campus.

Hyper Activities

Involvement. Energy. These words are the essence of Hyper Activities. These activities were organized by the various organizations students joined depending on their interests.

Some clubs, like Interact, involved community interaction, whereas others, such as Art Ink, dealt with hobby interests. Whatever the organization, high energy was behind it. The active fundraising of the clubs made this evident.

Promoting school spirit was another factor. Pepsters and Drill Team showed their spirit at sport events, while inspiring the rest of the student body to new heights of enthusiasm.

Wherever one went, one was sure to see the involvement, energy and spirit of students — the Hyper Activities.

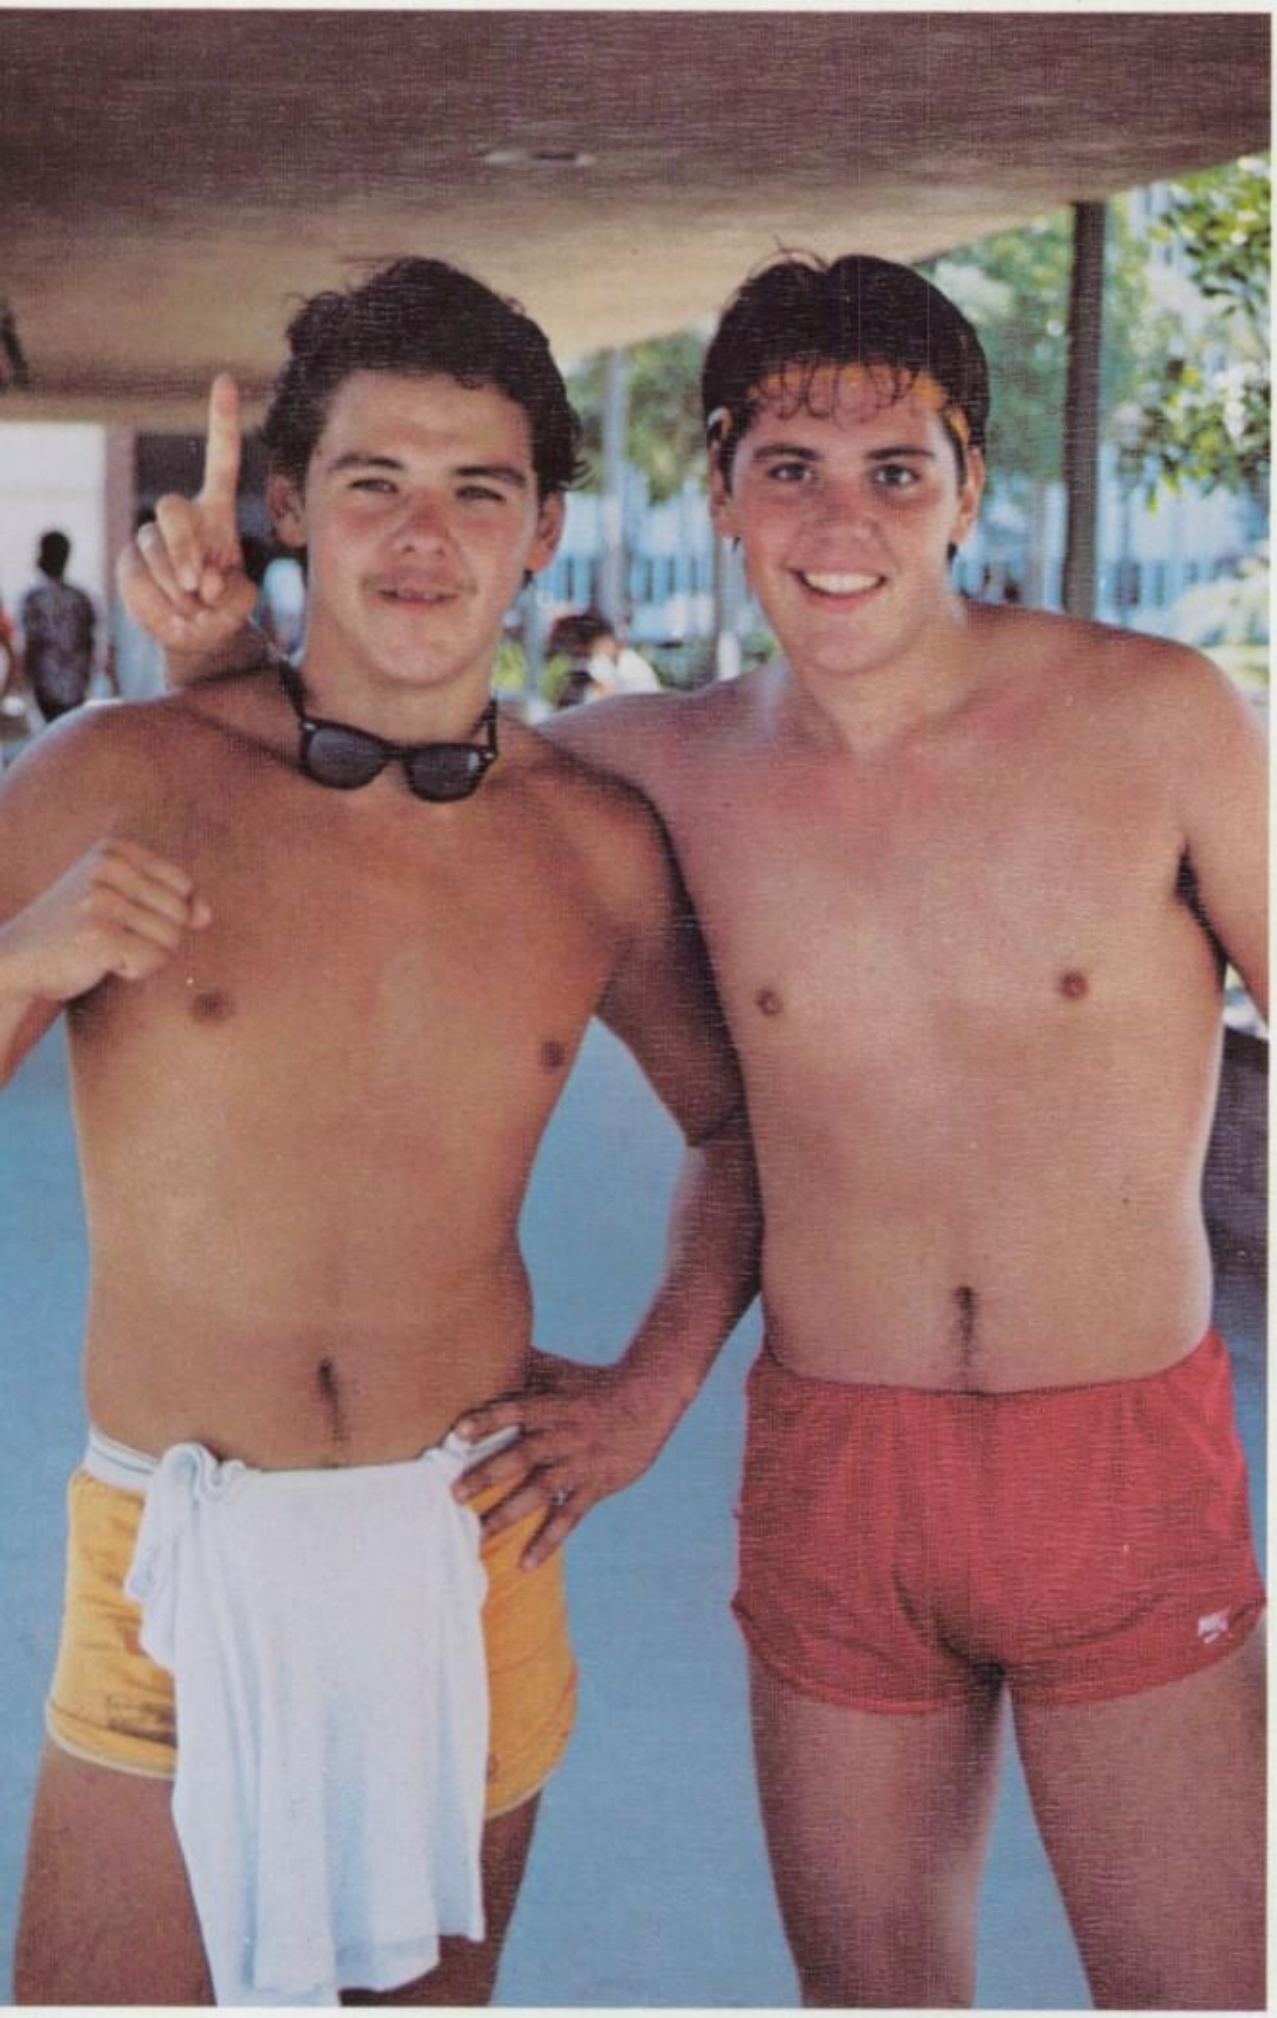
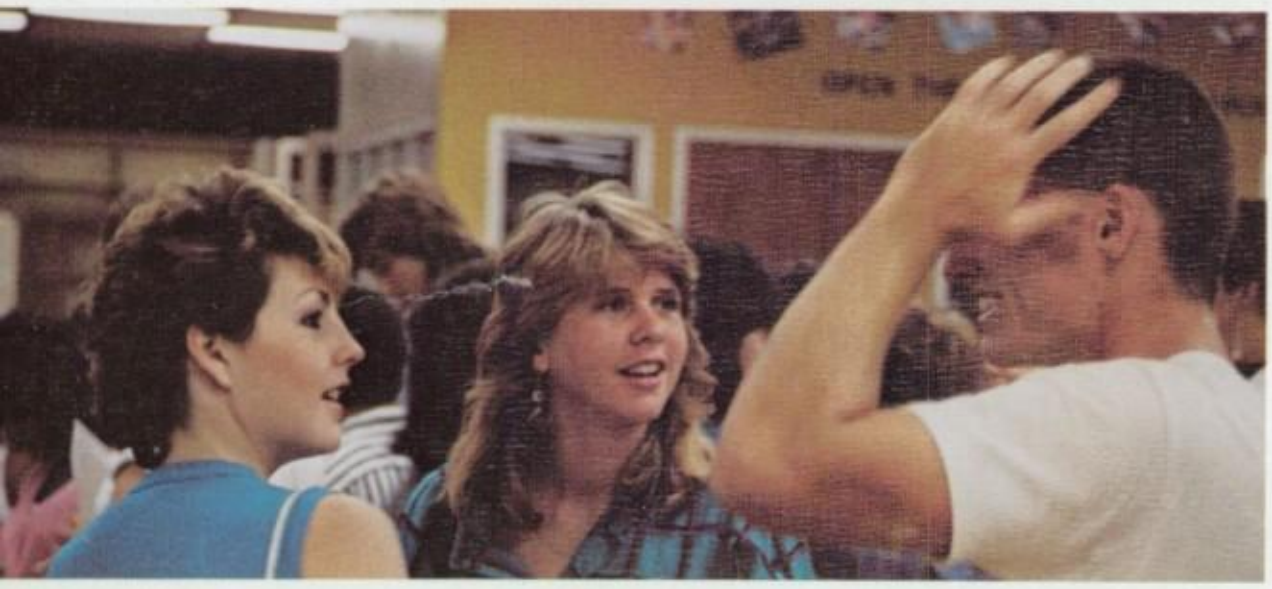
Registration

Comparing their schedules, Camille Romero, Christina Molina, and Lena Mercury talk about future classes at registration.

Candy Itow and Naomi Chan discuss their class schedules at registration. Each class registered at a different time.

Becky Aramayo straightens out her mixed up schedule with the help of Mr. Sais at registration. The counselors aided the students in planning their programs.





Registration Takes Its Toll

Whew . . . I wish that I was at the beach or at the nearest swimming pool! This has got to be one of the hottest days in August, and it would have to be the day of registration. Even at 7:45 in the morning the sun has already begun beating upon our heads and made us all weary. I'm just waiting for some geek to say that it is so hot that he could fry an egg on the sidewalk!

It's barely eight o'clock and the other students have already started to line up outside the back of the library and begun to check if they have all their papers. I can hear the people behind me saying that they were already beginning to sweat. At least once I get inside it's air conditioned — if it's working!

Finally, it's time to go inside and get my classes. I guess the object is to grab the cards and get out of this madhouse as quickly as possible before I get trampled! I hope to God I don't have to wait in line to talk to my counselor!

Gee, I got through this in only twenty minutes, and I didn't even have to rearrange too many classes! Hey, there are all my old buddies who I haven't talked to all summer long. I think I'll go over, greet them and see if I can pick up on some gossip about all our summer happenings. I can't believe how many parties we went to and all the scams that went on! Oh, you're kidding me! He's seeing her? Tell me more! What do you mean, you can't? You have to buy your yearbook and U.S.B. card? That can wait! Tell me more.

Well, there's just enough time to jam to the beach to catch a few more rays before we have to sit in a classroom for nine more months. I just can't wait for graduation; at least at the end of this year, I don't have to go through another registration!

Schurr High's European Vacation

While some students were going to summer school, cleaning their garages, spending time at the beach or just bumming around, the Photo Club and Voyagers took an exciting trip to Europe.

Twenty-seven students traveled with the Photo Club, enjoying their summer roaming for days through London, Paris, Germany and Italy with their adviser, Mr. Inouye. Like the photographers, the Voyagers, accompanied by Mr. Lebow and his family, also visited London, Paris, Germany, Italy, Austria and Greece. While in Greece, they enjoyed a first class cruise to the Greek Islands.

The clubs did not expect to meet but surprisingly did. "I was half asleep on the way to a castle in Germany, when I saw two tripods shooting at the castle and also other students taking pictures. Right then I knew it was the photographers. I was so excited to see them!" exclaimed Lulu Wong.

"It was a wonderful experience and I think everyone should have this opportunity," said Maureen Quan. "It was a great trip, and if Mr. Lebow offered it again, I would go, so I can catch up on all the places I visited," added Kathy Sasaki.

Both clubs raised money through pizza, soda, rummage and M&M sales. The Photo Club alone raised close to $6,000.

Yvonne Valenzuela summed her trip up, "It was one of the best things I did that made me grow up and also taught me about how other cultures live, which made me realize how lucky I was to be there." "The trip was extremely successful. There was no conflict between the 8 adults and 27 students concerning inflexibility which can be encountered on major trips of this nature. The weather was sunny most of the trip. My trip planner, Mr. Paul Diffley, along with my close friend Pierre Odier, added their expertise, which allowed the students [illegible] their free time without encountering negative experienc[illegible] ing," said Inouye.

Spirit Week

Hi Denny, It's been a long year and I'm glad we became friends. You've done a lot for us and I really appreciate it. Don't worry it's the end 'N TOUCH!! Love always, Jiggy Showing off her "pearly whites," senior Kathy Sasaki gets into the spirit and energy of Homecoming. Seniors really got into the spirit, by winning the spirit yell at the Homecoming pep rally.

After a morning of working hard decorating the junior building, Guille Robles and Lisa Huante still have the energy to smile and wave at fellow students. At the pep rally, it was announced that the juniors won the building decorating contest.

As the first rays of light shined on C-building and the Spartan Spirit came alive, Spirit Week commenced.

It began with Hat Day and a marshmallow stuff during both lunches. The rain on Tuesday didn't dampen anyone's spirits. The tacky tourists still came out with their instamatic cameras and the nerds wore their green plaid pants. The freshmen beat the juniors at the tug-of-war. On Wednesday, Sports Day, students dressed as their favorite athletes. The juniors won the car stuff by squeezing twenty-six student bodies into a mini-stationwagon.

Celebrating an early Halloween, Thursday became Costume Day. Spartans came decked out in their scariest and sexiest costumes. During both lunches, crowds of Spartans judged their classmates' costumes.

As Homecoming approached and last minute touches were put on the floats, Spartans arrived early to decorate buildings, electricity filled the air and the whole school came alive. After a shortened class schedule, students swarmed to the amphitheater for an extended pep rally, where various contests and the crowning of Homecoming King took place.

The juniors took the pep rally by winning the building decorating and hot dog eating contests and the flour dig. The seniors didn't do too badly either, winning the spirit yell and wheelbarrow contest. Sophomores won the mummy wrapping contest. The Homecoming Court was then put to the test with the apple and licorice eating contests.

After Hubert Turner was announced King, students rushed to Senior Park for a variety of foods, from teriyaki sticks to hamburgers, quiche to shaved ice. Music was also provided by Telesis.

Overall, Spirit Week was a big success, with few eggings and a lot of spirit and participation.

Homecoming 1985:

Spartans devastate Moors

"I felt that this year's homecoming was very spirited and that the football game was exciting." So said Linda Yamashita, Student Director of Activities.

Spartan spirit appeared to be a dominating element in Schurr's 1985 homecoming. Fellow Spartans showed their spirit throughout the whole week by participating in many activities, such as car stuffing contests, planned by USB. On homecoming day, a building decorating contest was held in the morning, followed by an extended pep rally.

At the pep rally, the 1985 Homecoming King candidates were announced and then the King, Hubert Turner was crowned. Turner's court was made up of Leonard Purvis, first runner up; Chris Wolf, second runner up; Paul Guerrero, third runner up; and Tim Moreno, fourth runner up.

The highlight of homecoming was the game itself. On Heaman field, the mighty Spartans easily defeated the Alhambra Moors with a score of 48-7. Feeling quite pleased about the score, Coach Ken Davis said, "I thought it was great. I never had so much fun in my life." Both teams scored a touchdown in the first quarter, but it was the Spartans who overpowered and devastated their opponents afterwards, scoring one touchdown after another. Commenting on the homecoming game, senior Julie Park stated that the game was full of Spartan spirit. "What made homecoming even better was the fact that our football team had an undefeated record and our school spirit shone throughout the game," she said.

During halftime, a float show was presented to the crowd and the homecoming queen was crowned by last year's queen, Melinda White. Susan Padilla was chosen as 1985 Homecoming Queen. Her court consisted of Elizabeth Sanchez, first runner up; Anna Martinez, second runner up; Elizabeth Yanez, third runner up; and Jackie Borja, fourth runner up.

When asked about directing homecoming, Linda Yamashita stated, "Directing homecoming was not as hard as I expected it to be. All I had to do was organize the activities and the rest was taken care of by the school spirit." She summed up homecoming overall by saying, "I thought this year's homecoming turned out to be successful. I especially felt the king court added a lot of class, along with humor, to the homecoming activities."

Choir

Rehearsing their lines for an upcoming Spring Concert are Spartan Vocal Spirit member Paul Toltzman, Reza Mahmoudiani, Pooneh Sabokpey, and Marisol Juarez.

Music to our ears

"The most enjoyable thing about choir is watching the people develop into exciting people," stated choir teacher Jenepher Berg.

In her second year of teaching the A Cappella choir for experienced singers and the Spartan Vocal Spirit for beginning singers, Berg revealed that working with the students has been a worthwhile as well as an enjoyable experience. She also noted with pleasure that there had been "incredible improvement" from last year.

Sharing similar feelings to Berg, the choir students had positive feelings about choir. President Michelle Duckett (A Cappella) remarked that, "Choir has been rewarding and people in choir have become a close family." Junior Leah Perez gave support by saying, "It brings people closer together and it gives you something to look forward to."

Throughout the year, many activities in choir were planned. They had assemblies for intermediate and elementary schools, sold Reese's candy and performed in several major concerts. These concerts included the Winter Concert in December, the Spring Concert in April and the Pop Concert in June.

Senior Sandy Inao remarked that choir "is fun because of the extra-curricular activities," and junior James Matush added, "We have good times."

However, other students had serious perspectives on being in choir. Senior Susan Acevedo felt that choir "gives you a chance to express your talent," while junior Lorrie Fimbres commented, "Choir is a lot of hard work, but in the end it is rewarding."

Charting the progress of choir overall, Berg stated that they have been very successful and full of improvement. She said that as the students work together, they develop close friendships, which add to the excitement in choir. She concluded, "We have a lot of fun activities while learning serious things about music — not only the technical aspects, but the aesthetic aspects as well."

Drill Team

This year's Drill Team seniors, Elizabeth Burt, Veronica Candelas, Trish Chapa, and Kathy Menard smile for the camera. They have been a big factor in contributing to the success of the Drill Team.

Marching during a routine, Anne Osorno and Stephan Lopez keep in step to the music. They were trying out new parade routine during a pep rally.

Overcoming the Difficulties

"I think we've improved tremendously since last year. This really looks like a good year!" said Tamiko Iwabuchi. As if to prove this statement, the Spartanettes took a first place at the Azusa Golden Days Parade and a second at the Glendale Verdugo Days Parade.

Although the Spartanettes did not have the advantage of going to camp this past summer, the girls made up for it with their extra work and determination. Debbie Richter, four year adviser, said, "They're a great bunch of girls, who are hard workers. They seem to enjoy what they are doing and, as a result, have done very well."

Irene Valencia, first assistant choreographer, stated, "There are times when everyone on the team wants to give up, but we always manage to pull through, try our best, and prove to everyone that we are number one!"

Georgette Cuellar, second assistant choreographer and a member of the Spartanettes for the past two years, commented on being assistant choreographer, "It's hard work making up routines with the other leaders. We try hard to make routines the way we feel the girls can respond to and look their best doing."

A vital part of the team is the sergeant at arms, Trish Chapa, who keeps the team in line and alert. When asked about this year's team, she said, "It takes a lot of practice and dedication. I think they're really doing well this year. They're trying hard." When asked about why she thought she was right for the position, Trish replied, "Because I'm LOUD!"

"Overall, this year's team showed the true spirit and energy of Schurr High. It was a lot of hard work but it paid off with the trophies and first place awards," commented Veronica Candelas.

"A major factor in our placing in the parades was the team's unity and self-confidence. The team strove for a goal and reached it!" commented Anita Magallanes.

Pepsters

Forming a human pyramid, pepsters April Ortiz, Lau Rivas, Lisa Conetta, Kim Gioia, Michelle Luna, and Pa Ledbetter try out a new routine during a pep rally.

Keepin' Up the Spirit

Spirit! Energy! Excitement! When these words come to mind, who do you think of? The Schurr High Pepsters, of course! Each year a new group of girls is chosen to bring out Spartan spirit, and this year's Pepsters were no exception.

Led by Captain Liz Yanez and Co-captain Darlene Garza, the Varsity squads performed during all pep rallies, football and basketball games. They performed routines that they had learned at the U.S.A. (United Spirit Association) camp in Santa Barbara last summer. There they learned new routines to Top 40 hits and competed with other schools for trophies and ribbons, winning the spirit stick, the highest symbol of a squad's unity and spirit.

When asked what the spirit stick meant to the squads, Susan Chon replied, "It means a lot because we had to show our spirit and prove how much spirit we had." Susan Padilla added, "It represents a goal you strive for at camp, showing that your squad has the most spirit and unity."

In spite of the fact that this year's Varsity squads didn't have as much experience as last year's squads, Mrs. Cynthia Cornejo, Pepster adviser, said, "What they lacked in experience, they made up for in spirit and enthusiasm. They were open to new ideas and willing to try new things."

Even though it wasn't new this year, not many people know that the pepsters have secret pals. At the beginning of the year, each person chose, at random, a secret pal. Every time a game, birthday, or special event approached, they gave each other little gifts. Asked to comment on having secret pals, songleader Susan Padilla said, "We have them so we can get to know someone by the end of the year. We have a whole new friend." Susan Chon added, "It's tradition."

Although Mrs. Cornejo would like to have eight members on each Varsity squad, including a few more guys on Varsity Yell (to keep Ricky Garcia company), this year's squads were well able to bring out Schurr's spirit.

Forming a coalition, pepsters line up for their routine. They were trying hard to get students up on their feet to cheer.

Songleaders: Anna Martinez, Susan Chon, Darlene Garza, Susan Padilla, Liz Yanez, Maria Garcia.

Yell Leaders: Laura Rivas, April Ortiz, Pam Ledbetter, Dorene Rivera, Ricky Garcia, Terri Robles, Lisa Conetta, Michelle Luna, Kim Gioia.

Breaking Up the Boredom

Piercing the chilly morning air with their cheers, students soon warmed up the amphitheater atmosphere with their spirit. This kind of scene was common at nutrition pep rallies, inspiring a massive release of emotions as students supported the home team and rooted for a victory.

Skits were often the center of attention during the rallies, as were the pepsters, who put on skits to provide entertainment for the on-lookers. Apart from skits, Varsity Squads performed a lot of energetic routines and also led the crowd in cheering.

Most of the class competitions were held during pep rallies. The spirit was especially high during homecoming, when contests such as the mummy wrap, wheelbarrow race, hot dog eating contest and spirit yell were held. There were also the marshmallow and ice cream eating contest, the tug-of-war and costume contests.

This year's Homecoming King was only the second one in our history. Hubert Turner was crowned during an extended pep rally.

Rain or shine, we always had music provided by our pep band which played something to liven up the crowd. The tunes were usually familiar to most students, like "Taco Mambo" and "Sons Of Westwood." The upbeat music of the band, electrifying routines of the pepsters, and the cheers from the crowd are what made our pep rallies energetic and fun!

Songleader Liz Yanez performs a routine to psyche up crowd. The Varsity squads always sparked the crow interest.

Pepsters Dana Lee, Monica Medina, Pam Ledbetter, Rosalinda Chavez, Laura Rivas, Valerie Delgado, Sally Mayer, Noemi Santana, and Heather Sarni perform in one of their weekly skits. At pep rallies, the Pepsters get to show off their creativity and humor.

Senior John Rodarte prepares for the annual Spirit Week tug-of-war. Once again, the class of '86 became the ruling champs of the competition.

Pepsters

Radiant energy

"We've got spirit, yes we do! We've got spirit, how 'bout you?'' chanted underclass pepsters during the many football, basketball, and wrestling tournaments that they attended this past year. Year round, the underclass pepsters not only brought energy and spirit to the games but they also participated in many other activities. They helped in keeping organization at meet-your-teacher night, served at the annual pancake breakfast and made up skits for pep rallies.

When asked why she enjoyed being a cheerleader, freshman Noemi Santana said, "I like encouraging the freshmen to go to the games and participate at the pep rallies."

"It's a challenge," commented Rosa Chavez.

Each girl went to the U.S.A. Camp in Santa Barbara and devoted much time and energy during the summer learning and perfecting routines for the coming year.

During the year, to help pay for uniforms and camp, and to spread a little spirit around campus, the pepsters sold ribbons, pom-pons, buttons and megaphones, held a car wash and participated in a fashion show.

Overall, their hard work has paid off by giving the school spirit that added a boost of encouragement and vitality.

Band/Pep Band

Marching Spartan Spirit

The Mighty Spartan Marching and Pep Band took all preparations for this past year's events. First, Mr. Leonard Narumi set up a Freshman Clinic for new members. "This clinic was to allow the students an opportunity to get a taste of what the program is all about," said Narumi. After a back-breaking preseason, they performed at the Kick-Off Celebration of the Music Center Book Fair and the Opening Festivities of Montebello Town Center. The band's first competition parade, the Days of Verdugo Parade in Glendale, they went home with first place trophies for drum major, tall flags and majorette, and second place drill team. The band was awarded sweepstakes along with the $500 music award.

Three weeks later the marching unit won first place in all categories at the Azusa Golden Days Parade. Soon after came the Chino Band Review. The unit placed second in majorette, third in tall flags, first in drill team, and fourth in band. Taking time out, band members volunteered their time to march in the Montebello Veterans' Day Parade. Finally the day came to compete in the West Arcadia Band Review. It was a tough job, but the Mighty Spartan Band came in fourth place, with second place for drum major. Later, the marching unit played in the Montrose Christmas Parade and also performed at Disneyland.

Describing what it takes to make it in Pep Band, David Muro said, "You have to know all your parts and be willing to put in extra time, but you also have to be able to mess around at the same time." Pep Band attended all home and away games for football and basketball. Their new hit songs were the drum solo, "St. Thomas"; "Boogie Down"; "Sing, Sing, Sing"; and the "Texas Fight Song." Pep Band helped a great deal to bring up school spirit during intense games. The band as a whole brought a lot of excitement to Schurr this past year. Senior David Brownstein summed up this year: "Day one was a lot of inexperience, but through pre-season and afterschool practicing the band grew as a unit."

Rosanna Vasquez

As he rolls his sticks to the beat, David Wong concentrates on his music. "St. Thomas" was one of the solos played by Spartan drummers.

Band saxophonists Wesley Paik and Erik Krondak blow their last note. The sax section of the Mighty Spartan Band was one of the finest in southern California.

Staging a coup, the USB endeavors to overthrow Principal James Douglas. The rebels included: Debbie Sato, Secretary; Linda Yamashita, Student Director of Activities; Margarita Rono, Historian; Jennifer Okuno, Treasurer; John Rodarte, President; and Tim Moreno, Vice-president.

Another successful year

Beaming with enthusiasm and spirit, the United Student Body officers set their sights on planning an eventful year of exciting activities and successfully came through on each occasion.

Led by president John Rodarte, U.S.B. coordinated one of the "most successful football homecomings ever" as each class displayed their unbound spirit in pep rallies and class competitions and also cheered the Varsity Football team on to a 62-0 victory over the Alhambra Moors. Also topping the list of successes this year was basketball homecoming, about which Rodarte said, "This was the first year we made it into a week-long activity, and everyone was well-spirited, which gave it a great uplift."

Challenged by the task of putting on the Junior/Senior Prom, the junior class officers and cabinet members raised funds by selling gummy bears and blow-pops and by sponsoring the Valentine's Dance. Showing their Spartan pride and sportsmanship, the juniors managed to capture first place in the football homecoming decoration contest and put on an eventful prom night. Junior class secretary Christine Oyakawa said, "I'm proud of our class. We have a strong sense of unity and we've accomplished a great deal this year."

Director of Student Activities Glenn Sewell said, "I was impressed with how well the officers organized themselves and all the activities, particularly football homecoming, ran very smoothly."

Reflecting on the past year with a twinkle in her eye, U.S.B. treasurer Jennifer Okuno remarked, "It's been very memorable and exciting and being in U.S.B. has given me a lot of beneficial experience."

Director of Activities Linda Yamashita attributed this year's successes to the fact that "everyone worked very compatibly together and the school spirit was high."

The year started off on a good note and ended with sparkling results because each effort carried the unity of Spartan dedication at its peak.

The magical kingdom

Once upon a time, in a galaxy far, far away, there was a magical kingdom called "CSF." All the citizens of "CSF" were busy every year preparing for fundraisers to send certain CSF members to a colony called "College-land." All the members of CSF were encouraged to participate in the festivities which their president, Lulu Wong, had planned for them. Among these festivities were the annual Carnation Sale in December, the Spring Candy Sale and the Jump-Rope-for-Heart/Car Wash Day in April. Overseeing the 146 members of CSF were their regal advisers Queen Ella Wing and King Robert Vrablik.

The magical kingdom of CSF was in the great galaxy called "Schurr." Schurr had one big problem. Many of its citizens needed help in learning about the hidden secrets of such mysterious subjects as algebra, physics, chemistry, geometry and English. When CSF learned of Schurr's great need for "tutors," many CSF'ers signed up to volunteer their services. The tutoring program worked very well and everyone was happy.

One event which all CSF'ers looked forward to every year was the long-awaited journey to Magic Mountain in May. "That's one of the best rewards for being a CSF'er," said freshman Susan Wong.

So we take leave of this universe as the sun slowly sets behind the heads of a hundred screaming teenagers on board the giant Colossus. And they all lived happily ever after.

Scholarly leaders

In their second year, the National Honor Society was back in full force. Led by President Randy Chew, the academic/service club made many contributions to the community this year, upholding their commitment to both scholastic and humanitarian endeavors.

One major project at Christmas time had all the club members visiting the Salvation Army day-care center to pass out gifts to the children. They stayed and played with them until the parents came to pick their children up.

Maintaining rigorous standards, the organization was open to all juniors and seniors with a 3.5 grade point average and two letters of recommendation from members of the community. The newly inducted members were then chosen by a group of seven faculty members.

In addition to Chew, officers included Brian To, vice-president; Sam Kung, treasurer; Ta-Hui Wang, secretary; and Brent Liu, historian.

Summing up the feelings about NHS, Liu remarked, "It's a great honor to be in the club."

Art revival

After a year of establishment, it seemed that Art Ink was on verge of disappearing. Adviser Judith Jurasek said, "I thought there was going to be no Art Ink this year because all the people in it last year had graduated." However, members of her art classes came to the rescue and revived the club at the beginning of the second semester.

The group had many activities planned throughout the second semester like trips to various museums in Los Angeles County, including the J. Paul Getty Museum.

Through fundraising, Art Ink accomplished several of their goals. They sold egg-grams and had a carnation sale. Besides this, they used their artistic talents to make cards and pictures as another method of fundraising. The money raised was also used to give scholarships to people planning to major in the art field.

"One thing about our club is that it encourages people to appreciate art, discuss it, and experience it so they can broaden their knowledge on it," stated Jurasek. Member Eileen Hahn said she liked the club because she "shows an interest in art and has the opportunity to learn new ideas."

Summed up Grace Cheng, "Art Ink is open to everyone and we hope more people join and get involved. It is a fun club."

Community service

In only its second year, Key Club has continued to provide community service opportunities and social activities for members.

Key Club is limited to 43 members: one half seniors and the rest juniors and sophomores. Its bylaws aim for a sexual and ethnic mix and balance. Key Club started its year with a trip to Knott's Scary Farm. During homecoming, they took first place in the trash can decorating contest. At the end of November, five members volunteered to go on the Farm-City Exchange in which they had to spend some time away from the city on a farm. April Vigil explained, "For me, it was a wonderful experience to be able to go out to a different kind of atmosphere and see an unexplored lifestyle."

For Thanksgiving, Key Club sold lollipops to raise money to buy food for needy people. In December, they had their annual Christmas Party. Just before the New Year, members helped decorate a Rose Parade float sponsored by the International Kiwanis Organization. They ended the first semester with their annual After-Finals Party.

Key Club organized a ski trip to Big Bear in February. In April, members attended the National Key Club Convention in Anaheim and sponsored a successful Spring Dance. Later, they had their Family Night Pot Luck with the sponsoring Kiwanis Club of Montebello. Under the direction of Maureen Quan, a workday program was organized to allow members to gain experience in the work force. Toward the end of the year, Key Club went on various excursions to the park and the beach.

Quan said, "We've had a really successful year, and I think that Mr. Lebow and Debbie Sato have done a great job in getting all the club members involved in the social and community projects."

Each week, Key club sent two different members to Kiwanis Club luncheons and they had monthly meetings at various members' homes.

Mr. Mike Lopez listens attentively to one of the suggestions proposed in the weekly Interact meeting. Lopez taught the Preparation for College Placement and English (LEP).

Planning an upcoming meeting, Key Club member Maureen Quan busily prepares the agenda. Quan also kept herself busy by being Editor-in Chief of the Spartan Scroll.

Junior Candy Itow brilliantly suggests a new idea for a fundraiser as Evelyn Matus listens. The Interact Club was responsible for the successful blood drive this year.

People helping people has come back into style with the help of Band-Aid, USA for Africa, and Live Aid. People have always been into helping each other, but now it has spread throughout the world with new vigor. The desire to help not the world but our own community has been satisfied by the members of Interact Club.

The long-established community service club, under the guidance of third-year adviser Mike Lopez, has aided many people in need of blood, food, and attention. "All the members of the club strived to help others, which proved to be very successful," said Tom Pieratt.

Headed by president Tom Pieratt; vice-president Frank Perez; secretary Pat Roa; treasurer Wayne Evans; and activities director, Cassandra Pieratt, the club began the year with their annual blood drive on October 28. Students and faculty were urged to donate blood. "Our goal was fifty units of blood, but we received sixty units, which was better than usual," said Lopez. On March 21, the club held another blood drive.

For Thanksgiving, a basket decorating contest was held within the club. The baskets filled with a turkey and all the trimmings were distributed to needy families around Monterey Park. Club members held a canned food drive for families in need just before Christmas. Cash prizes were awarded to Mr. Kim's, Mr. Canale's, and Mrs. Morita's homeroom classes. About 1500 cans were collected in all.

Also duirng Christmas, several members made a journey to Hill Haven, a rest home in Monterey Park, bearing flowers and warm greetings. They had such a wonderful experience that they began regular visits. "We've begun and will continue to visit Hill Haven, and we will continue the blood and canned food drives," commented Pieratt.

Overall, Interact Club has done its best to aid the community and will continue to do so as long as there is the need.

Spanish Club/French Club

As Hoang Ea and Cherrie To count money from their recent bake sale, adviser Rosie Geck points out an interesting-looking bill. Like French Club, Spanish Club donated money to earthquake victims.

Loafing around at a meeting is Connie To. To activ supported Spanish Club by helping them with their f draisers.

Keeping European culture

"Our chief aim is to raise money for a good cause and to have fun," said French Club vice president Charles Sayasith. Through bake sales, this culture-oriented club reached out and helped the victims of Mother Nature, such as those of the Mexican earthquake and the Colombian volcano eruption.

In addition to their charitable activities, the club had a Christmas gram sale. "After our successful Christmas gram sale, we decided to have a Christmas Party to highlight the holiday season," explained French Club president Van Ly. "Everyone had fun, and we're all learning quite a bit about the French culture at the same time." The club concluded its year with the traditional banquet in June.

Studying the Hispanic culture is only a portion of the various activities that the "newly found" Spanish Club has accomplished this year.

The club officers seemed very enthusiastic about this year's club. President Veronica de Alba said, "The club had a very successful year because of all the great people in the club." Her main goal was to have the members enjoy themselves and get something out of the club. Chairperson Kristin Ishii felt that their goals had been accomplished, saying, "I think that everyone got into the activities. The club did really well because we raised enough money to go see Cats at the end of the year."

Expressing her enthusiasm for the club, member Vivian Baustista said, "I liked the club. There were fun things to do because I got to meet people."

Among the activities the Spanish Club participated in were bake sales, a stuffed animal sale, a picture booth at homecoming, and trips to Magic Mountain and Cats. Their fundraisers enabled them to donate to the earthquake victims in Mexico. All in all, the Spanish Club had a very successful year.

Asia club finishes first

"The Moors are no more" — this catchy phrase helped Asia Club win first place in the float competition during football homecoming. Under the leadership of Jennifer Okuno, president; Linda Yamashita, vice-president; Dean Inouye, secretary; Asher Matsuda, treasurer; and co-advisers, Stacy Honda and Julian Olague, Asia Club proved themselves winners.

"The thing about our float was that we had no car to carry it during the competition," stated Okuno, "but, instead, people volunteered to carry the float, which made things much easier." Added member Debbie Sato, "The fact that everyone in Asia Club helped make the float shows that they were really supportive."

Asia Club conducted other activities as well. They had several bake sales and a carnation sale at homecoming. With these funds, they donated Christmas presents to the Los Angeles County U.S.C. Medical Center. They also gave out scholarships to club members and took a trip to an amusement park.

Korean Club/Varsity Club

Asian invasion

Finally, after being talked about for the past couple of years, a Korean Club was established. A group of determined students, with the help of Mr. Jose Rojo, got the club going.

Club members got involved in Korean-culture associated programs both in and out of school. The club became a subdivision of the Korean Youth Center (KYC), an organization in Los Angeles where Korean club officers from all different schools met and planned activities. The KYC was supportive by sponsoring many activities, such as tournaments, dances, community service programs, picnics, and other outings.

The club participated in the volleyball tournament sponsored by the KYC. Although the club did not place, they brought back a trophy for their effort. The club also participated in a picnic with the KYC. Through these activities, Korean students united and had an enjoyable time and a learning experience. Through the KYC, officers of all the existing Korean clubs were invited to a banquet held by the Korean Community officials.

In order to support itself, the club held bake sales and candy sales. Before the fundraisers got going, the club supported itself with the club members' donations.

"Being a first-year club, I don't think we were all organized, but still we had a good time. Everybody helped each other as much as possible. Mr. Rojo was the most supportive adviser that any club would want. I hope that this club continues on with more strength and unity in the years to come," commented Nam Kim, president.

V is for varsity

Consisting of jocks and jockettes, the Varsity Club returned once again for its eleventh year. Under the leadership of Frank Perez, president, and Mr. Ron Pruitt, adviser, the Varsity Club planned several major events during the year.

The dunking booth that the Varsity Club traditionally sponsored during homecoming missed its chance again this year. Members were disappointed, but that gave them more energy to devote to their next and only major event. The annual Donkey Basketball game between the faculty and the athletes in the club made up for the fun missed out on the booth.

"It is really like a reward for the efforts of all the Varsity athletes to play in the Donkey Basketball game," commented Pruitt. "We've got a good group of athletes this year, and I hope we can beat the faculty this year."

Varsity lettermen and women Mike Padilla, Fred Hoyle, Doreen Rivera, Frank Perez, Lulu Solis, and Eric Rubalcava were among the Spartan athletes who put up a tough fight against the teachers. After a close first half, the faculty broke away to defeat the students, 60-52.

"I really thought we could beat the faculty this year," stated a disappointed Jon Brown. "It was heartbreaking to lose to the faculty again, especially since this was the last chance to win for the seniors on the team." Summing up the students' general feeling after the game, junior Jennifer Zubiate said, "The game was still fun and memorable, despite our defeat."

Spectrum Staff

One 'happy' family

"Here's a story of a lovely lady, who was bringing up three very lovely girls ..." Well, make it mostly girls for the Spectrum staff. As photo editor Yvonne Valenzuela put it, "Family? Us? We're like the Brady Bunch."

The parent in this case would have to be Linda Harris. She commented, "This year's staff has displayed one important quality — their ability to work without sleep. Even though they've put in many, many hours creating interesting layouts, they hav always fulfilled all the design requirements."

Julie Park, also known as "The Leader of the Pack," encountered the obvious unexpected in producing a yearbook. Park commented, "There were a lot of things going against us this year, but probably TIME was our largest obstruction." Her fellow "sister" Alice Chan agreed and added, "Trying to meet the deadlines for the first time wa the hardest part to accomplish, because I was so unsure of what to do.

Of course every family has its share of fights, and yearbook is no ex ception. When asked whether the underclassmen in the staff added to th pressures facing her, senior Sharon Chung replied, "Yes they do Seniors are the only ones that should be allowed in this class." After sh let out one of her primal screams, the two freshmen rebutted, "Wh does she always have to think like that? Why? Why? It's just not fai We deserve more respect than this. Believe us, we do."

Amidst the pressure, the Spectrum family has remained strong an vibrant. "Laughing and talking to myself helps relieve tension," com mented one member. However, sports editor Barry Fong disagreed "Walking out of the room helps me."

Valenzuela concluded, "Sure, all the headaches and aggravation ar worth it, because yearbook looks good on transcripts ..." she hestiated "... for ELAC — if I make it."

Godofredo Cru

The Spectrum Staff works diligently under the guidance of Konnie Krislock, Herff Jones representative, and Linda Harris, staff adviser. The staff has put in many hours of work in order to produce this year's edition.

Looking through the boxes for a picture for a spread is Godofredo Cruz. Cruz was a copy writer for the Spectrum staff.

Faculty Co-Editor Elaine Wong cheerfully smiles as she eyes her fellow classmates in a photograph to be printed in the yearbook. Wong was one the many from Spectrum Staff to be concurrently enrolled in journalism.

Under tremendous pressure, junior Lisa Itamura mediates in order to relax. Itamura was the Senior Editor this year.

As yearbook adviser Linda Harris points out the door to Barry Fong, Fong decides to take her up on the offer. Harris has been yearbook adviser for two years.

This sign was one of the creations of the Spectrum "P.R." Department. The staff worked seriously to design and create these advertising wonders.

Journalism
News, news and more news

"AIDS disease spreads fears"; "Nine teachers to join faculty, look forward to coming year"; "Baryshnikov, St. Nick shine as holiday screens light up"; "Runners win all divisions at meet." What do these diverse topics have in common? They all have been headlines for Schurr's own Spartan Scroll.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Lorrie Wellenstein, the Journalism class was again able to produce quality newspapers, despite the unexperienced staff and reporters. Wellenstein remarked, "This year's journalists have displayed excellent qualities. They are not only observant in picking up article ideas from around school, but also very accurate in reporting facts." Although these are important qualities of a journalist, Wellenstein credits the group's open-minded view on certain subjects as one of their excellent ones. She added, "Sometimes they are put into positions where they have to think about a certain issue and having to decide which side they will choose."

When asked if she encountered any problems that she was not ready for, Editor-In-Chief Maureen Quan facetiously stated, "Of course not. We were always prepared to handle the expected unexcepted — except for Nancy. She just loved spending lunchtime handing out Helen Grace chocolates to nobody."

Publicity Chairman Nancy Long commented, "I'm glad I had the experience as part of the Spartan Scroll. I've learned the different styles of writing although it's been difficult." And difficult it was, as Linda Chan agreed, "Meeting the deadlines can be very hard on a person. Sometimes I just have to stop everything I'm doing and listen to the radio or else I'd go crazy."

The past school year was filled with "interesting" memories for these journalists. Business Manager Nancy Gondo reminisced, "I remember the time when we had to use the microwave to thaw out the raw teriyaki to be put onto skewers during homecoming. We didn't realize it was still frozen until it was too late!" Copy Editor Christine Oyakawa said, "Maybe getting stuck in an elevator in the National Convention in Tucson was the most memorable one."

What about the future Spartan Scrollers? Journalism 1-2 students are already looking forward to next year when they themselves will be part of the school publication. James Escarcega said, "I know it's hard work, but I'd love to continue to write for the Scroll." Freshman Lynda Kim commented, "I joined Journalism because I love to write. I hope I can write for the paper next school year."

The always animated Karen Tse concluded, "Being a journalist means deadlines, selling popcorn, selling Helen Grace Candies, competing at the write-offs, car washes . . . "

Christmas Ball

One warm winter night

Captivating the dance-goers with red and white decorations, the Christmas Ball was a special night to be remembered "Forever," which the Girls' League chose as the theme. Fusion spun the records while Sanford Studios captured the lovely couples on film.

The highlight of this gala event came with the coronation of Virginia Lazalde as Christmas Ball queen. Lazalde reminisced, "Becoming queen really made the whole night more exciting. That was a special moment for me, and I was so happy." Alicia Garcia was honored as senior princess. Esther Escobar as junior princess, Heather Sarni as sophomore princess, and Sally Mayer as the freshman princess. By collecting the most money, Sarni also received the title of Mrs. Santa Claus, and her date Mark Padilla became Mr. Santa Claus.

Some seniors felt that the Christmas Ball was a success. Commented senior Lance Nakano, "The Christmas Ball was one of the most organized dances that I have been to this year." Senior Margarita Rono praised, "On the whole, the effect of the Christmas Ball was impressive. The decorations were really nice."

President of Girls' League April Vigil emphasized, "The hard work and preparation by the girls who attended really paid off that night. Without them, it couldn't have been the way it was."

Girls' League

Going strong

Sponsoring two dances, many fund raisers and two brunches, Girls' League was one of this year's most enthusiastic and active organizations. However, what distinguishes Girls League from other clubs is that the club consists of only female members.

With the help of president April Vigil and adviser Mary Ann Kaestner, many activities were planned for the year.

To start the year off, the club held a Wake-a-thon on October 19-20, where each member stayed up as long as she could. During homecoming, the members showed their spirit by selling mums and having a bake sale. Member Duhita Bhakta commented, "Being in Girls' League is a lot of fun. The girls all get along together."

Homecoming was followed by a romantic trend — the Christmas Ball, Val-o-grams, and the Sadie Hawkins dance.

On December 20, the club sponsored the Christmas Ball with the theme "Forever." It was one of the more romantic and pleasurable events of the year according to senior Lily Zarate, who said, "It was a very memorable night for me."

Continuing the trend, the members sold Val-o-grams to celebrate Valentine's Day. Finally, in March they sponsored the Sadie Hawkins dance.

At year-end, a Mother-Daughter Brunch and a Father-Daughter lunch were held in honor of the members' parents.

President April Vigil said, "Being in Girls' League was a big honor; to put out the Christmas Ball and having it be the success that it was. Being president has helped me to be more organized and responsible."

Gaming Masters/Computer Club

From wizards to dragons

Fire-breathing dragons, magical wizards, and spell binding incantations were a few of the ingredients that created mystical scenarios for the members of Gaming Masters. The club's activities consist of creating a scene or script and playing out the role of the characters. Club member John Vasquez said, "You take on the role of another person in another world and another time."

Aside from sharpening their "acting" talents, players also gathered historical information. By setting the scene during the Middle Ages, Revolutionary War, and other significant events, they learned material while pretending to live in that time period.

President Marc Duardo commented, "It (the club) broadens the imagination and you can live your fantasies."

Under the adviserships of Mrs. Betty Harbison, the club also held fund raisers, which included an M & M's sale and selling quiche during homecoming.

Ahead in technology

Reflecting the rising influence of technology in our society, the 38-member Computer Club set out to open students' eyes to the expanding field of computers and computer science. The purpose of the club, according to adviser Bobby Smith is to "review hardware and software, jobs and occupations related to computers and inform students of the capabilities of the computer."

In order to achieve these goals, the Computer Club organized a variety of activities, designed to familiarize students with current issues and developments in the computer field. It also worked to enhance its own range of computer resources, procuring one new piece of equipment. In this way, Computer Club members not only learned about the latest innovations, they also got to work with them as well.

For president Cindy Ngo and other members this has involved educational programs including guest speakers and demonstrations, as well as fund-raisers. For the first time in its three-year history, the Computer Club entered the Art Show, hoping to expose less technically inclined students to possibilities in the area of computer graphics.

Summing up the year, Ngo commented, "This has been a great year with opportunities to do many things."

Vocational and Industrial Clubs of America (V.I.C.A.) had a very successful year. President Mando Hernandez commented, "A lot more members are actively involved." Secretary Adria Garcia agreed, "The cabinet works together and gets things accomplished." Parliamentarian Larry Madrid added, "There is more incentive to get things done as a group."

V.I.C.A. is a national organization of high school students devoted to achieving high standards of performance in the trades. The main V.I.C.A. function is the annual Skills Olympics. Hernandez explained, "The V.I.C.A.-Olympics is a state and regional competition. Members demonstrate their skills against other schools. The V.I.C.A.-Olympics program leads to direct student-to-employer interaction." Adviser David Traeger remarked, "We did well in the Skills Olympics this year, better than we thought."

Membership in V.I.C.A. is open to all students enrolled in shop classes. Joe Lemus, Sergeant-at-Arms, explained that being a member is highly advantageous. "V.I.C.A. helps you in many ways. It provides scholarships and prepares the student for future work in industry."

Imagine attending pep rallies and football games with no sound. That is how school activities would be if there was no sound crew. Head honchos Joe Chen and Jerry Hughes worked together with members Fernando Puez and Alex Tirado to set up the systems properly. Chief Chen commented on their performance. "We may have some trouble at times, but we always work efficiently to get the job done. Having to take on these responsibilities will prepare me for whatever jobs I may tackle in the future."

Finance Office/Friends of the Library

Business as usual

Once again with Mr. Sewell in charge, the Finance Office fulfilled students' needs by selling a variety of school supplies as well as class rings, senior T-shirts, yearbooks, and caps and gowns.

Approximately $200,000 in club, USB, and athletics accounts passed through the Finance Office this year.

A new addition to the office was the USB purchased computer, which handled the USB bookkeeping and helped many clubs and organizations complete necessary functions.

USB officers (and other students) worked there daily, giving change, selling supplies, and selling tickets for many events. USB historian Margarita Rono commented, "It's fun working here be-

I can also meet a lot of people, listen to the radio, deliver call slips, act important, and best of all, count money!"

Pointing out one factor that made working in the Finance Office enjoyable, vice-president Tim Moreno said, "Everyone's friendly in this school." and Mr. Sewell concluded, "It's been a very successful year."

Not just another club

Although the name of the Library may sound like just another club, the organization has much more behind it. Advised by Randie Hayward, the club had various fundraisers throughout the year. Through bake sales and their popular pepperbelly sales, Friends of the Library raised enough money to see a play and hold a how-many-Hershey-kisses-in-a-jar contest for students.

Besides fundraising, the group conducted several community projects as well. One of their major projects was Christmas carolling in convalescent homes for senior citizens in December. Commenting on this activity, President Veronica De Alba said, "Everyone felt good about himself after singing for the senior citizens. We plan to make this a tradition every year."

One may ask, "What is the purpose of this club?" "It's to get people interested in the library and see the many facilities the library has to offer." Added secretary Kristen Ishii, "Community interaction is another objective of our club."

With many activities planned for the future, the Friends of the Library will continue to be an active club on campus.

Bible study and more

For the past several years, Campus Life has remained a steady organization on campus. Meeting every Wednesday and Friday during lunch, the group often studied excerpts from the Bible.

The organization, however, did not study at every weekly meeting. According to member Pamela Yee, "During Thanksgiving, we held a contest where whoever could bring the most friends to our meetings would win a free turkey." She added, "At the Christmas season, we had a pizza party and sang Christmas carols. We all had a pretty good time."

With the leadership of president Donald Hall, secretary Sylvia Cons, treasurer James Ng, chairpersons Julie Chan, Michelle Berru, and Pamela Yee, and advisers Bill Raisner, Walter Witt, and Joe Walker, the group raised money for upcoming activities. Fundraisers included a nachos sale during football homecoming.

Concluded senior Lilia Amunatigui, "I felt that being in Campus Life has been a good experience for me. I had a chance to meet people as well as study the Bible."

More music

Chamber Ensemble, a newly-formed choral group, met as a class after school on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays. Being a select group, the fourteen members were chosen by audition only.

Under the instruction of second-year mentor Jenepher Berg and accompaniment of Dan Brodsley, the Chamber Ensemble made various appearances at school in addition to performing for off-campus events such as PTA meetings, choir festivals, and a tour of Northern California.

Looking at the year in retrospect, Berg remarked, "This year was both exciting and frustrating as far as the Chamber Ensemble is concerned. It was exciting because the group was made up of many interesting, talented people — almost all of whom participated in many different activities — both at school and outside of school. However, it was frustrating because, since the members were all so involved in so many different projects, it took longer than expected for this group to come together as a cohesive working unit."

Member Hannah Yu summed up the year, "It was exciting and I gained a lot of experience."

Learn by doing

The most remarkable thing about Junior Statesmen is that the organization is almost totally student run. The second most remarkable thing is the dedication and drive of its leaders, at all levels of the group.

In its second year at Schurr under the direction of president Lisa Itamura, vice president Karen Tse, secretary Paula Chan, treasurer Alice Chan, and historian Kaoru Matsuo, the Schurr Chapter has grown, maybe not in number, but in participation and enthusiasm. Said Itamura, "By and large, I felt that our chapter was one of the more active chapters in the region. Despite the fact that we didn't have one of the larger chapters, we always managed to represent our chapter well." Whether it was setting up mini-conferences; running for office at any of the four levels of the Junior State; lobbying for the Speaker's program; writing for the regional, state or national newspapers; setting up, running or participating in debates, mock trials, simulations, thought talks, or workshops; fundraising for the two overnight conventions at the Airport Hilton and the Irvine Hilton; fundraising for symposia and summer schools; engaging keynote speakers; running membership campaigns; or going to conventions as far north as Santa Barbara and as far south as San Diego; a Statesmen's work was never done. Two Statesmen who will agree were Karen Tse, Chief Justice, who had the added responsibility of a position on state cabinet; and Lisa Itamura, Director of Chapter Affairs on regional cabinet. Itamura not only held her own chapter together, but all the other chapters in the Angeles Region.

"The Junior State is only worth what you put into it. You give it your all, and it comes back to you," Tse concluded.

Freshman James Escarcega ponders over a question asked during a debate. Throughout the year, Junior Statesmen attended conferences all over California.

Julie Shiroishi discusses with Karen Tse ideas for debate topics. Shiroishi served as the organization's Director of Publicity.

With a smile on her face, Vice President Karen Tse busily takes notes. Tse, along with President Lisa Itamura, attended J.S.A. summer school in Washington, D.C.

At the Downtown Business Magnet mini-conference, Angela Tsiang concentrates on taking the J.S.A. Bar Exam. After passing the exam, people became members of the Junior State Bar Association.

President Julie Shiroishi discusses with members information on the Spring Varsity tournament. Shiroishi was the secretary of the organization last year.

Size makes no difference

After recovering from a shortage of members at the beginning of the year, the Speech Team built momentum by participating in a variety of activities and competitions.

These competitions began with the Alhambra Varsity Tournament held in December at Alhambra High School. The next month, the team travelled to Cal State Fullerton to participate in an invitational tournament that included competitors from four states. March meant the Southern California Debate League Spring Varsity Tournament at Pasadena City College. The Speech Team rounded out the year with two qualifying tournaments, the National Forensic League Qualifier in Cerritos and the State Qualifier in La Verne with the top three places representing the league at the State Finals.

"We've gotten smaller in size since last year, but now that we're growing in number, we hope to be proportionately successful," commented president Julie Shiroishi.

One could argue that the Speech Team has been more than proportionately successful, and many members have won individual honors. Reflected Brent Naritomi, "I think a team, we competed pretty well overall, an gained experience and confidence in speaking skills."

Shiroishi was aided by vice president omi Chan. secretary Camille Romero coach Peter Fong, as the Speech Team gaged in a series of fund-raising activities well as competitions. Speech Team memb sold soda at basketball homecoming and d uts at football homecoming. The money fr the fundraisers was used to help defray costs of speech tournaments, since the te has no budget and the competitions m cover their own expenses.

Adviser Fong commented, "The spe competitor is a special breed." The l hours spent preparing, researching, prac ing rewriting, timing, practicing, to cul nate in a long day of potentially five rou of competition is very intense. Sometimes competitor gets a trophy and all the hoo and other times the competitor will only the thrill of competition. Speech competit is good for one's character!"

Say cheese!

The long established Photography Club gained in leadership as well as in membership this year. The club had grown tremendously, but unfortunately lost members during the second semester.

Under the leadership of Erick Castillo, Benson Ng, Monica Medina, and Greg Pluegboonyachai, photo club was active in holding fundraisers to finance trips. They held a shaved ice sale during football homecoming and a rose sale during basketball homecoming, in addition to other fundraisers. According to president Erick Costillo "We plan to sell roses again, sodas, and maybe if the weather stays cold a hot chocolate sale."

Last year's members went on a trip to Europe during the summer where they visited exciting places like London, Paris, Germany, and Italy. They got a chance to sightsee and take captivating pictures of the people and places they visited. Besides learning techniques and other skills of the trade, photo club members also learned about different people and their lifestyles.

Club members kept busy by participating in the football homecoming float building contest, where they took second place, and visited the Steve Sakai Studios. Castillo explained that they went to the studio "to learn the process of how a professional photography studio operates." He also commented, "It was a great learning experience."

Donkey Basketball

Tough contenders

"When the going gets tough, the tough get going." So far, it's been the teachers who proved to be the tough ones. For the second year in a row, the teachers were able to out-tough the students, winning with a score of 60-52.

Rick Frias commented, "We lost because we missed too many baskets and the teachers made most of theirs." Of course, there were many factors in the students' loss that were totally out of their control. James Rodriguez said, "If the donkeys weren't so stubborn, we would have been much better. Our team did its best; the only improvement that could have been made was getting different donkeys."

However, Frank "Gramps" Perez discovered the teachers' "secret weapon." He said, "The women on the teachers' team caused us the most trouble. They are more vicious, wilder, and aggressive than the guys on their team!"

For the second year in a row, senior Mike Padilla scored the most points for the student side. Lulu Solis commented, "He scored the most on our team because he was the most experienced. Bad Boy Padilla rode that donkey like a pro."

And just how, exactly, does one ride a donkey, especially for the first time? "With great difficulty," commented Cross Country Coach Chris Lord. "The only thing that kept me on were my long legs."

First-time donkey rider Jennifer Zubiate concluded, "Being part of the Donkey Basketball game was a memorable experience. Falling off the donkey, getting rope burns, and being sore the next day were the best things about the game. I can hardly wait till next year."

BASKETBALL HOMECOMING

Tradition at its best

Homecoming capped off one of the most successful football seasons we have had in recent years. What better way to end the equally impressive basketball season with — you guessed it — a second homecoming.

The United Student Body made sure there were activities galore during the week. Highlights included a tug-of-war, a lost and found fashion show, and a kayak race complete with skateboards and plungers. U.S.B. President John Rodarte commented, "All the activities made this year's basketball homecoming a successful one."

But of course homecoming wouldn't be complete without a traditional Spartan win, and win they did! Schurr had no mercy for their San Gabriel opponents, winning with a score of 60-46. Senior Barry Fong commented, "Everyone at the game was enthusiastic! We wanted that win and we wanted it bad."

The traditional homecoming court was announced after the game. Seniors Dean Inouye and Linda Yamashita took the honors of King and Queen; their court consisted of juniors Tom Pieratt and Charise Alvarez, sophomores Tony Shishima and Wendy Sakamoto, and freshmen David Kunishina and Valerie Delgado.

After the Spartan win over San Gabriel, students celebrated by attending the annual homecoming dance held in the small gym. "Everyone seemed to have had a good time," remarked senior Aissa Cendejas. "It was a wonderful dance. I had an exciting time," remarked Dennis Pasaporte.

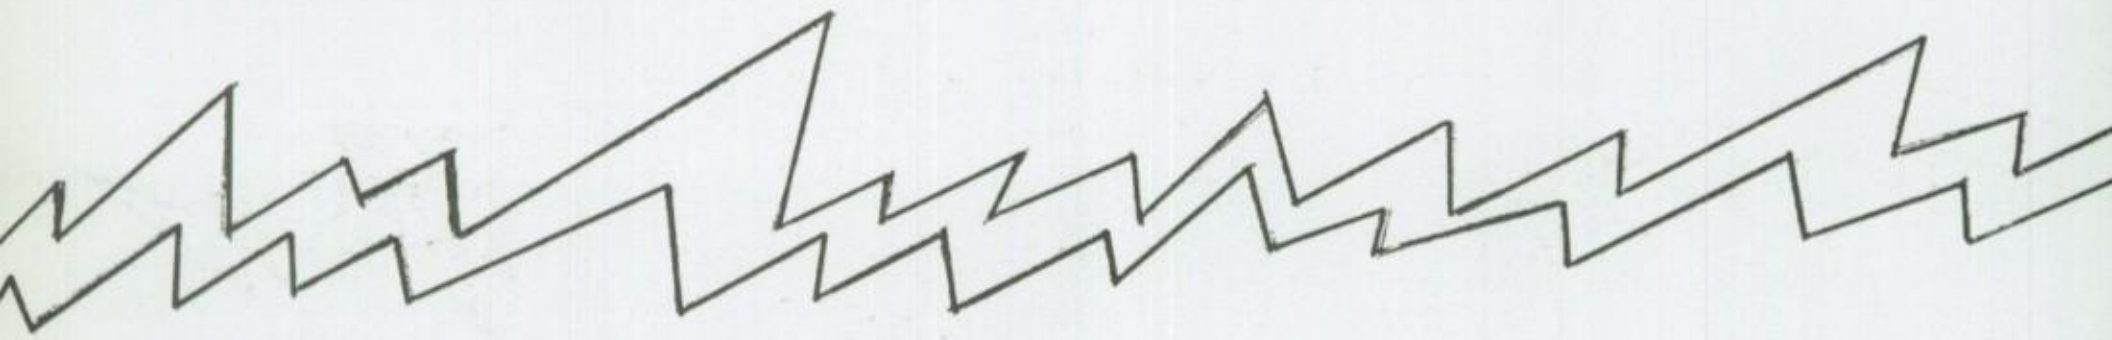
Showing who's number one are Brent Mitsuuichi, Stephanie Tanaka, Alan Nomorosa, Gerald Yee, and Michelle Masuda. Spartans showed their support at the game by cheering on the basketball players.



High Voltage Athletes

What better way to describe athletics at Schurr than with the words High Voltage? No other phrase could capture the energy and spirit of our sports teams as well. No other phrase could truly express the excitement and activity found at all our games, practices, and pep rallies in a more fitting way. It is high voltage that gives our coaches and athletes the drive and determination to compete. It is high voltage that brings to our school the titles, the recognition, the victories. And it is also high voltage that keeps the pride and sportsmanship going, even in the face of defeat. Whether it be on the playing fields, in the locker rooms, or at the pep rallies, the High Voltage of Schurr's athletes comes charging through.

An Electrifying Season

It was no schock the Varsity Football team was going to make a comeback. After all, 17 starters returned, 20 guys made 1000 pound club, and last year's Sophomore Football team had almost taken League Champions, but people had their doubts. Why?

"The guys looked small. I didn't think they could handle it," replied Michelle Luna, but smallness wasn't their only problem. "Last year's seniors had a bad attitude," said Rosa Betancort. "Yeah," interrupted Lupe Cano, "I thought they would be the same as last year's seniors."

But this years' team had little in common with last year's. "The way the awesome offense and the deep and dangerous defense played, it was like a brand new team had emerged," said Jason Ramirez. "We were strong, we had strong supporters, but most of all we had strong hearts," remarked Alex Gonzalez.

"You could see it in their eyes, they wanted it bad, they didn't want another disappointing season. Since football is a winning tradition here, the team wanted it (tradition) back. The players dedicated more of themselves this year," said Ben Negrete, Varsity Coach of Defensive Backs.

"We had more unity and leadership. Last year we were playing as individuals and not as a team. We would point fingers at each other when things went wrong," replied Mark Chung. "There wasn't that much support last year," sadly replied Gramps Perez, "but I knew we would show them this year," he said shaking his fist.

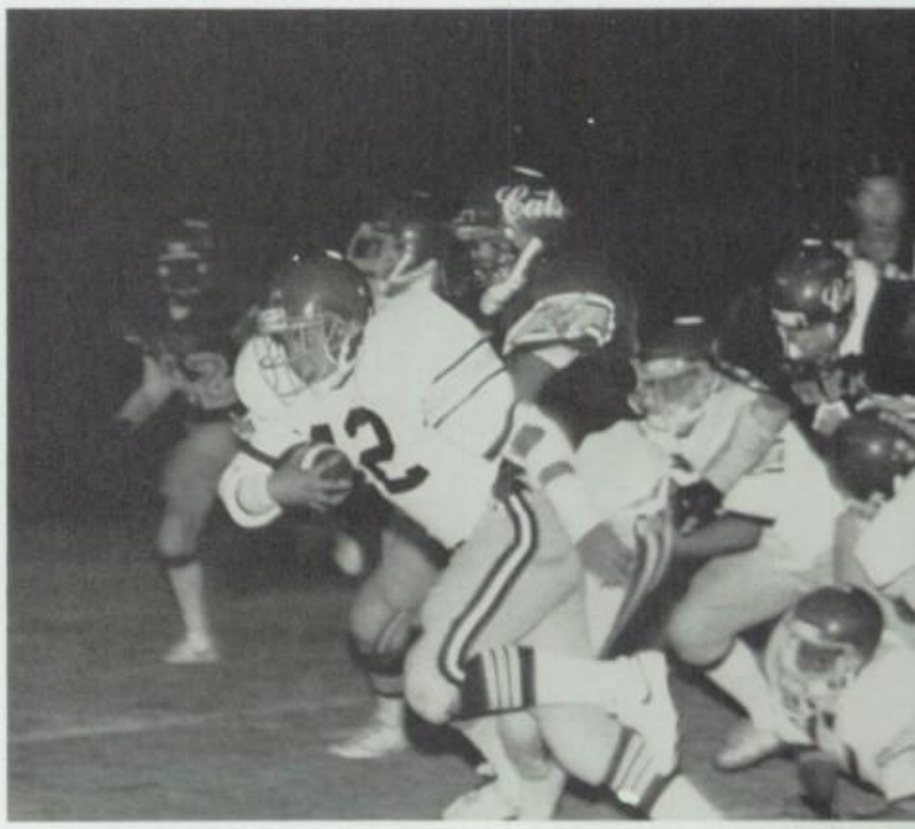
With the score 29-27, Hubert Turner (40) dodges a Wildcat leading to the final game score of 36-27. For the season, Turner had 21 TD's.

After a successful offensive play, Mike Padilla (47) copies the referee's TD signal. Padilla had 32 catches for 695 yards and 6 TDs for the season.



Running with a wildcat hanging on to him, Hubert Turner (40) looks around for any other opponents. Turner was named Foothill League Player of the Year.

Tearing through the tackle, Danny Dalziel (42) breaks away for more yardage. Dalziel came from Los Altos High.

Dragging along his opponent, Gerald Leal successfully completes a long run into a TD. Leal was unable to play against Pasadena due to a knee injury.

Moving On to C.I.F.

Experiencing difficulties against Hart, the Varsity Football Team finished second in league with a record of 9-1. They then went on to play against the Ventura Cougars, scoring touchdown after touchdown, and eventually beating them 36-6. "I think we played real hard and intense. We didn't want to end the season losing two games in a row," commented receiver Mike Padilla.

Moving further down to the CIF Finals, the Spartans met with the Pasadena Bulldogs on a rained-out muddy field. With both teams failing to score in the first quarter, the Spartans made mistakes which lost them the chance to move on. The game ended 6-20. Padilla said, "We played sloppy and didn't execute enough. It took us too long to decide to play hard."

The Spartans' over-all record was 10-2. Eleven seniors and one junior were recognized for All League Standings:

First Team Offense — Danny Dalziel (42), Runningback; Mike Padilla (47), Wide Receiver; Hubert Turner (40), Wide Receiver.

Second Team Offense — Eric Rubalcava (12), Quarterback; Jon Brown (87), Tight-end; Oscar Chacon (56), Guard; Gramps Perez (77), Center; Robert Rodriguez (71), Tackle.

First Team Defense — Rick Frias (28), Nose Guard; Joe Lira (31), End; David Chavez (58), Line Backer; Hubert Turner (40), Defensive Back.

Second Team Defense — Agustin Covarrubias (76), Line, Mike Padilla (47), Wide Receiver.

Carefully placing the ball with his steady hands, kicker Ruben Castenada (65) attempts to gain extra points with a field goal.

While the quarterback drops back for a pass, lineman Greg Baez (55) guards out any opponents. Baez started out as a Defensive End.

As Adrian Moctezuma (51) attempts to attack his opponents, quarterback Eric Rubalcava has enough time to hand off to runningback Danny Dalziel.

As the line crumbles, quarterback Eric Rubalcava (12) quickly finds a teammate to throw to.

As sophomore Ron Verhoorn (77) blocks the Matadors, runningback Joe Valles (33) slips past his opponents for a Spartan victory over San Gabriel. Sophomores shut out San Gabriel 46-0.

As Sophomore Freddie Alvarez (79) sacks the San Gabriel quarterback, Robert Pasillas (42) rushes in to assist the tackle. Pasillas's other position was quarterback.

Soph/Frosh Show Potential

With the League Championship Title lingering in the Sophomore Football Team locker room, the Spartans faced a tough Hart team.

Both teams were undefeated in league and met for the final showdown in which the Spartans' hopes were dampened by a Hart victory.

"Our offense played all right. We could have done better. Quarterback Paul Chavez, however, did well. He knew his stuff and was a strong runner," said Jesse Frescas. "Our offensive line was awesome. I think for a small team we did pretty good," stated Tim Woodfield. But the defensive line was just as good. "I think Rick Davis did a great job. Overall, we did good," said Frescas. The defensive team was allowing a little over a touchdown per game.

On the other hand, the Freshmen Team had a slow start. With a sluggish pre-season, the Freshmen Football Team finished in third place. "In the beginning it was rough, but then we got back on our feet. I think next year we will be exceptionally stronger and faster," commented quarterback David Barragan. "We improved as the weeks went by but next year will change. We'll be better!" exclaimed Alex Sahagun.

While stretching, Gabriel Macias and Nick Lugo size up their opponents. Macias and Lugo were the dominating forces on the Varsity Team.

Winning isn't everything . . .

Being successful does not necessarily mean winning. This proved to be true for the Boy's Varsity Cross Country Team. Even though they compiled a 3-4 record, they still mustered enough energy to make this an impressive season with record-breaking times from Nick Lugo and outstanding finishes by Gabriel Macias.

Coach Mando Marentes commented, "We had a lot of records set this year." And indeed they did. Throughout the season, Lugo kept setting and breaking his own (and the school's) records. Lugo recalled, "It came to me as a complete surprise, because the kind of season I had was totally unexpected. I had just went into Cross Country because I thought it would help me perform better during track." And what was the key to his success? "Gabriel Macias. He really was the inspiration. I don't really deserve the recognition if Gabriel wasn't going to get the same."

Macias commented, "I felt the team did real well and we pulled together, but injuries kept pulling us apart. I'll never forget this team." First year varsity runner Mark Padilla remarked, "Overall, our season was fun and that's what mainly counts. Everyone tried hard because we had a lot of support." Junior Glen Sabey concluded, "Although the team was young and inexperienced and did not have a winning season, the hard effort made the Boys' Varsity of '85 a very successful one, thanks to good coaching from Captain Gabriel Macias."

Reaching the finish line, Julie Caracol has an exhausted look on her face. Caracol has been on the track team for four years.

Anticipating a victory, the girls stretch out before a meet. Exercising beforehand helps prevent injuries.

Running behind a Warren opponent, senior Pat Gomez times herself until approaching the finish line. Gomez placed 35th in League out of 90 runners.

Breaking away from the pack, Jeannine Rios continues to use her speed against her oppoents. Rios placed 38th in League out of 90 runners.

Sprinting the last mile, runners Rosie Santana and Lori Carreon race to the finish line. Varsity girls missed CIF Finals by two places.

Sweating it out, senior Petie Padilla finally arrives at the finsih line. Petie is a three year veteran in Cross Country.

Practice Makes Perfect

CIF quality — that's what the Girls Varsity Cross Country Team is made of. Throughout the season, the team demolished their opponents one by one and garnered a 6-1 record. Coach Mando Marentes said, "We did real well this season, everyone ran to their potential." Senior Judy Lopez remarked, "We were all dedicated and we never once gave up."

During League Finals, the team made it clear that they were going to CIF preliminaries by placing Julie Caracol third and Petie Padilla tenth. Caracol commented, "The workouts were much harder. Times often we might put in at least 25 miles a week," Janice Williams credited Marentes' distance workouts and Coach Lord's "mini-killers" speed work outs as the major factor in strengthening the team's physical capabilities. Williams also added, "My hero Julie Caracol really contributed a great deal to the team's success."

Losing by a few points in the CIF preliminaries, the team's chances of advancing quickly terminated. Despite the bad weather, Caracol was able to place seventh out of 90. Three year veteran Pat Gomez commented, "The credit for this year's success has to go to the coaches. All those pressure speeches really helped us work hard and all the hard work made us confident and proud of our team." Coach Lord on the other hand, said, "Success came because the runners put out their best." Senior Jeannine Rios concluded, "Working as a team helped to make the very best for me!"

Underclassmen seek perfection

What the Boys' Junior Varsity Team lacked in numbers, they certainly made up for in speed. With runners like Brian To and Ezekiel Wang running varsity times, the five-member team was able to capture a 3-4 record.

The team had the minimum number of runners in order to be scored as a team, so the Boys Junior Varsity Team knew that everyone had to be pushed to his limit. First year mentor Chris Lord commented, "The team showed a lot of promise; everyone improved tremendously during the season." Wang said, "We had two runners this season who had never run Cross Country before, but overall times were great for such an inexperienced team."

If this year's Girls' performance is an indication of what is to come in the future, then CIF, here they come. And there they went with a record of 6-1 in season.

Lorena Padilla commented, "The team was well-rounded and talented. We came across many tough teams, but the hard work paid off and we got through with winning results." Senior Lilia Amunatigui reflected, "We not only competed against other teams but also each other! Especially in League Finals, when we had seven out of the top ten girls."

Sylvia Dominguez concluded, "By concentrating on the race and doing my best, I achieved my ultimate goal in cross country."

As the volleyball season got under way, Varsity Coach Stacy Honda and Junior Varsity coach Chris Haggerty had their hands full. "There was a lot of rough talent swaying around. We just had to get ourselves together," commented Junior Sandy Conejo.

With three returning lettermen, the varsity girls ended their season with a 9-7 record. "The team was close, they gave up a lot of their time and worked hard," said Coach Honda. Team captain Alice Garcia commented, "Seems like we are more close and united. We all wanted to make it work more than ever."

On awards night, Lulu Solis received MVP while Jennifer Okuno was awarded for Best Defensive Player and Alice Garcia was chosen for Most Inspirational.

Meanwhile, Coach Haggerty had only two returning lettermen and started with a new team. "The team was much younger, but I felt we had a very successful season because they really worked as a unit," commented Coach Haggerty. Aimee To was awarded MVP, while awards went to Olivia Ortiz for Most Improved and Sandy Conejo for Most Spirited. "Considering we were inexperienced, we showed a great deal of potential and had a lot of fun," concluded Conejo.

Game, set, and match

With eight seniors and one junior, the Girls Varsity Tennis team, guided by the new tennis coach Jay Thompson, finished their season taking third place in the competetive Foothill League.

The girls, by placing third in league were able to advance to the first round of CIF team playoffs for the second year in a row, facing top seeded Thousand Oaks this time. The team's further hopes of advancing ended with a loss, 2-16.

The netters' record was 5-5 in league and 10-8 overall. Commenting on the record, Thompson said, "I felt the team could have been better. The team was very inconsistent, and they were affected by my change of lineups. I did this to better the girls in the long run."

Despite their inconsistency, Thompson was pleased with the team's performance. "Having eight seniors, all with experience, contributed to our success. Margarita Rono was our strongest player, and often the key to our victories," he stated.

Rono, for her fourth year, returned as the number one seeded singles played. This year, Rono captured second place in league finals and advanced to the CIF individual playoffs. There, she fell short of the quarter-finals, losing in the last qualifying round to a ranked player. Her record was an impressive 54-2.

Coach Pam Huey faced a challenge when she was confronted with a new J.V. team. Through weeks of practice, the J.V. team finished their season placing fourth with a 2-6 league record and 2-10 overall. "Inexperience on the players' part was the main reason for the J.V. team's losses," said Huey, but I'm happy with the amount of improvement the girls made in their game." Netter Kiyomi Sayano concluded, "This year was a learning experience. We'll do better next year when we return."

"Relentless" Team Breaks School Record

They did it!! This year's Boys Varsity Basketball team earned its way into Spartan record books as they compiled an awesome 21-3 record for the season.

Coaches Tommy Thompson and David Hokyo never expected this year's team to be this successful, but thanks to their excellent coaching, the team became one of the success stories of the year. Thompson commented, "The team was easy to coach. They are an excellent and intelligent group; they were real interested in playing, which made it more fun for me to coach."

Another key to the success of the team was their execution of defense. Co-captain Butch LeNoue, who also led the team in steals, remarked, "The strongest point of the season was our team's defense. Since most of the teams were bigger, we all had to work extra hard preparing our defense."

Winning was especially sweet for senior Mike Varos. When asked what the most memorable moment of the year was, he replied, "Getting MVP when we played Bosco was a moment I'll never forget."

Only a sophomore, Paul Chavez has spent his first two years as a Varsity player and led the team in rebounds this past year. He commented, "With two years behind me, I'm really looking forward to the next two years and hope that we can at least come close to the success we've reached this year."

Coach Thompson said, "Comparing opening day scrimmage to the last game against Hart was like night and day. We had eleven players on the team and all played an important role in forming the success of the entire team."

Slow Start; Explosive Finish

"It was great!" as sophomore John Granado described the incredible Junior Varsity season. The Boys' J.V. team finished their season with an impressive league record of 8-2. Guided by Schurr alumnus Rick Ronquillo, the team proved to their opponents that they were not to be taken lightly.

The J.V. team was well-balanced with Captain John Hotta and Robert Sanchez as the team's sharpshooters. Forward Joe Cypert dominated the boards for the Spartans. Sophomore Derek Kunishima commented on the strong points of the team. "We were quick and we had the desire."

Center John Granado added, "We had good defense." However, when asked if there was anything the team lacked, 6'6" Granado replied with a smile, "The team lacked height."

Despite the fact that it was Ronquillo's first year of coaching J.V., the Spartans had a slow start in league by losing to Burbank, 56-62. Then they exploded and finished the season placing second in league. Kunishima commented, "In the beginning, we weren't concentrating. At the end, we brought everything together and we started executing." Small forward Eugene Wang adds, "We were more consistent at the closing of the season." On the other hand, Granado remarked, "We became stronger and stronger."

With the Varsity team making it to CIF again, the J.V. team is confident that they can uphold this fast-becoming tradition. Kunishima remarked, "I think the team moving up can uphold the tradition. They are really good!"

Sophomores Show Success; Freshmen Toil In Vain

It's time for show and tell! And that the sophomores did as they captured the league title, posting a remarkable league standing of 9-1 and a 23-4 overall performance.

Under the supervision of first-time sophomore coach Bill Drulias, the sophomore team finally exploded and burst out as a threat to every team in the vicious Foothill League. Sophomore guard Eris Sandy commented, "We had to work hard to get to the top."

Leading the team with strong consistent play were Rodney Yanaga and Daniel Kotani, with sophomore Kevin Akiyama as the team's point guard. Head Coach Drulias stressed mental toughness and aggressive defense as the major ideas at this level of play. Drulias concluded, "These kids have a real exciting future."

For the freshman team, it's back to the drawing boards. Of course, there could have been many factors to their disappointing 4-6 league record and a 7-11 overall record. One seems to be their playing in a different league than the rest of the basketball teams. This exposed them to different challenges they were not ready to face.

Another factor in their disconcerting standing may be the team's lack of experience. At the end of the season, the team had pulled its resources together. Unfortunately, it was too little too late.

Head Coach Robert Rivera faced the difficulty of building the team into a successful one. Although it was a disappointing year, there were two consistent players, Brent Mitsuichi and Ren Daubet.

Maurice Gutierrez concluded, "We all worked hard and we gave it our best. We just couldn't get it together."

Giving It Their All

Following a successful pre-season, the Girls' Varsity Basketball team sailed into league play with high hopes and building enthusiasm. However, with six returning players and five new varsity members, the team had to contend with dominant forces in the Foothill League, which left them with a 6-4 record.

Once again, the team was plagued by a lack of height as they faced the likes of taller teams. Senior Lily Oyama remarked, "We had the makings of a pretty strong team, but our height handicap eventually caught up with us."

The team qualified for the first round of CIF playoffs for the thirteenth year in a row as they captured third place in league behind Burroughs and San Gabriel. Jennifer Okuno commented, "We had our ups and downs in season and we didn't do as well as we could have but we stuck it out and I think that's important."

Competition in the Foothill League was indeed formidable, but several players excelled on the court; Linda Yamashita and Shari Yasui demonstrated consistent defensive play while Christina Ballesteros and Okuno flourished in offensive play.

Coach Steve Terry commented, "Starting out, we were very optimistic and based on what we had and the way we played, I felt we had a good shot at knocking off the bigger teams, but somehow we had a dry spell right in the middle."

Highlights of the girls' basketball season included successful pre-season games against Whittier Christian and La Mirada. With this success, they finished second in the Wilson Tournament. "We had our share of disappointments due to the injuries and illnesses, but I feel that basically we did have a successful season," Coach Terry added.

Due to their lack of height, the girls had to rely on plain strategy — their wit, aggressiveness and speed which, when put into play, were main support factors in each key game. The Varsity Cagerettes finished off the season on a positive note as they swept Hart. Coach Stacey Honda noted, "Despite the lack of height, our team is smart and quick; when we get it all together, we're awesome!"

Winning Touch Proves Fatal to Opponents

Although handicapped due to a lack of height, the girls' J.V. and Fosh-Soph basketball team came out highly successful in the season. They proved to their competitors that although height may have its advantages, determination, teamwork, aggressive defense, accurate shots, and speed are what make a winning team. They definitely had the winning touch.

The girls' talented J.V. Basketball Team had more than a good season. Sophomore Stephanie Tanaka commented on their teamwork, "We weren't accustomed to our own playing style, but after the loss to Los Altos we understood each other's playing ability better."

The JV team certainly recovered from their loss and dominated the other basketball teams. Coached by Frank Nishimura, the more-than-competitive JV team were titled "Co-Champs" in the Foothill League after winning Hart with an incontrovertible score.

With three returners and eleven new players, Frosh-Soph Coach Lisa Moisa formed "an aggressive defensive team and a well-balanced offensive team." The determination to win is immensely apparent when looking at the game scores of the season. There were two losses, but both ended in either one or two overtimes. After coming close to winning all of their games, the JV team placed second in league.

Dominating the court were the valuable players Renee Matsubara, Kim Hirano, and Colette Kovacs. These players were an asset to the Frosh-Soph team not only for their strong defensive, but also offensive skills. Moisa thought these individuals to be outstanding players because Matsubara had the speed, Hirano the consistency, and Kovacs the versatility.

Moisa not only complimented these players but also the whole team by saying, "As a team they were well-balanced with a lot of potential."

These hard-working teams certainly deserved the credit they received. Not only did they have the speed to outrun their opponents, but they also scored the points, because they had the winning touch.

No Pain, No Gain

Quickness and strength are vital assets to a wrestler, not only physically, but mentally as well. Unlike football and basketball, where teammates are in contact with each other, the wrestlers must go out and compete in a one-on-one struggle to overcome the concentration and power of the opponent. Determined to pin his competitor, the wrestler also has to avoid becoming entrapped.

A wrestler must be dedicated and disciplined to his sport; disciplined especially in the area of his weight. If he exceeds his weight class by even one pound, he cannot compete in his division.

"Intensity," said wrestler Alfred O'Neil, described a match. Besides hearing the echoing of the coaches' voices against the gym wall, unity and leadership is also found. Every time a Spartan encounters a near pin with an opponent, his teammates join in with the encouragement of stomping feet, clapping hands, and the words, "PIN, PIN, PIN!" Sure enough, pins are made.

This year the Varsity wrestlers finished second in league with a league record of 4-1 and an overall of 24-3. In all five tournaments, they placed in the top three, taking first in the Schurr 10-way and Bonita tournaments. They placed second in the Gahr-16 way Team Tournament and third in the Rowland 12-way and Chino 16-way.

In league finals, fourteen wrestlers placed between first and fourth place. Placing first were Sheldon Kim (wt 101), 26 pins, 36-5; Luis Nebel (wt 115), 31 pins, 37-4; Dean Manibog (wt 141) 24 pins, 34-0; Joel Sarabia (wt 168), 15 pins, 31-4; and Alfred O'Neil (wt Hwt), 31 pins, 35-3. Second place were Asher Matsuda (wt 128) 16-11; Matt Lopez (wt 134), 9 pins, 19-17-2; Alejandro Tirado (wt 148), 27 pins, 32-3; and Jose Lara (wt 177), 14 pins, 23-8. Third place were Scott Fort (wt 167), 25 pins, 35-8; James Rodriguez (wt 177); and Paul Cendejas (wt 193), 11 pins, 13-6-1; Fourth place were Tom Pieratt (wt 154), and Frank Perez (wt 193), 1 pin, 4-4.

"One advantage to wrestling —," said a wrestler, "wrestlers will always go to heaven after they die because they've already been through HELL!"

Combined Team Comes Out On Top

Fast becoming a Spartan tradition, the combined Junior Varsity and Frosh-Soph wrestling teams were again able to garner the prestigious league title.

And how was the team able to keep their tremendous winning streak throughout their undefeated season? J.V. matman Mike Barajas replied, "We were both mentally and physically prepared. Although preparing mentally was the hardest thing to do before the matches, we found it to help us, because we were thinking more."

Coaching both team, Mr. Lou Lawrence commented, "Our excellent season happened because of the effort that the kids put out. The teams deserve all the credit for making our undefeated league title. I'm proud of them all."

According to most of the wrestlers, juniors Alfred Okubo and Bruce Nakashimo were instrumental in helping the rest of the team do their best. Okubo commented, "Well, I didn't do too much except cheer for the guys. I don't actually know what did it, but whatever it was, it helped us keep winning and winning."

Winning league title didn't come easy for these grapplers. Soph-Frosh wrestler Mike Suazo said, "In the beginning we really weren't doing too good, until the coach told us this. From then on we had to get our act together. It wasn't at all that easy to garner that title."

When asked about the future of the J.V. and Frosh-Soph teams, Barajas commented, "We're Spartans! We're going to take that league title again!"

Unity Brings Victory

It seems like the old saying "United we stand, divided we fall," applied more to the Boys' Varsity baseball team than any other team this past school year. But, of course, the Varsity team has always been known for its adroit teamwork.

Head Coach Paul "Buzz" Baviello along with Bill Drulias were faced with guiding a young team — the same team that threatened the other teams during league games. Baviello credited the defense as one of the major assets of the team. He said, "Although we strengthened our pitching and hitting, our defense proved to be the most consistent and also one of the key factors in attaining the position we reached."

Throughout the season the team proved to be consistent always in search of the prestigious title, but unity in the team was the bond that held the expectations high. Senior Robert Orozco concluded, "We all played as one team; whether one was on the bench or on the field, we all stuck together."

Prowess Makes Team Unbeatable

The new coaching changes for the underclass baseball teams proved to be a blessing in disguise as expert guidance led the mighty Spartans to demolish their opponents.

J.V. Coach Ben Negrete, who replaced Bill Drulias, had to guide his team through the tough league teams, despite the team being young and inexperienced. Junior Glenn Sabey commented, "Everyone contributed to the success of the team; we had good defense and good pitching. The good playing atmosphere was also helpful, but not as much as the wonderful coaching and team discipline."

Entering the season, the Frosh team knew that Arroyo was the team to beat. Teamwork was able to boost the Spartans' spirits in dampening Arroyo's domination over them. Coach Chris Clark commented, "This year we were very strong in pitching — so good that we lost one pitcher to varsity and one to J.V."

The underclass teams may be a force to be reckoned with in the future, so they were able to garner wins with the skill and grace as only the Spartans can manage.

Intensity Heightens Limits

Lack of experience was a must to overcome for both Varsity and J.V. softball teams as they rampaged through the season.

To start off, 107 girls tried out for 30 spots — 15 on each team. Varsity pitcher Debbie Flores said, "We have a lot of freshmen this year." Four made it to Varsity and 11 on J.V. "I can see talent, they deserve to be on Varsity," commented Coach Chris Haggerty.

One of the biggest problems facing the teams was keeping their enthusiasm up. "They must be intense all seven innings; they can't play giving out only 80%," said Haggerty. Despite the adversities Captain Lisa Oda said, "It's the best team in my four years playing."

Practicing 10 hours a week, playing some top-ranked teams during preseason, and having a private pitching coach made the teams stronger for league games. There were high expectations at the beginning of the season, before the first game, first baseman Siryvan Sophone commented, "We're still learning from each other and the coaches, but by the time League games start, we'll be ready!"

Though there were many difficulties to overcome, both Varsity and J.V. teams managed to overcome many hardships.

Third baseman Michelle Mendez waits for the ball to come to her after her Montebello opponent hits a grounder.

Concentrating intensely on the softball game is second baseman Letitia Christian.

"Success is Counted Sweetest . . . "

The coaching staff was unsettled; rain postponed most of their meets and impaired their practice; the team was young — very young. Taking all this into consideration, why then did the Boys' Varsity team have a successful season?

In the beginning of the season, Head Coach Bruce Vlink wasn't looking for League Championship. He said, "Although the possibilities then were good, we didn't have to better each individual's times as the season went along."

Vlink credited Randy Chew, Alex Hernandez, and Nick Lugo as the ones who excelled this season. Chew said, "We definitely had the making of a good team."

First year distance coach Enrique Sigala said, "I wanted them to develop a love and respect for the sport."

Sprinter David Castañeda said that the relays and sprints events were the strong points of the team. Varsity distance runner Zeke Wang concluded, "The team definitely had the potential to take League, especially with all our talents combined."

Competition? Not for Us!

Although most were unsure about how the team will fare during league meets, the Girls' Varsity team was able to obliterate these doubts as the team, once again, showed their finesse á lá Spartan style.

Coach Steve Terry said, "All we (the coaches) wanted to do was to train the members at the highest level they can compete." Co-captain Julie Caracol remarked, "I feel anyone has potential to succeed in anything just as long as they stick to it, get experience, and just have fun."

As the season progressed, the combined talents of the veterans and newcomers proved to be the key to the team's success. Co-captain Pat Gomez commented, "We have been working very hard and deserve to be league champions!"

Head Coach Bruce Vlink commented that Caracol, Nancy Murietta, and Janice Williams were some of the outstanding harriers to have a successful season. Williams said, "The team was definitely young this past year, but we certainly had the potential." Sophomore Varsity trackster Chela Orozco said, "I wanted to better my times this year and basically try to do my best."

Girls' Underclass Track: (Front Row) C. Ileto, N. Tran, L. Carreon, U. White, J. Garcia, B. Djokic, D. Sasaki, S. Cornejo, A. Holguin, A. Orozco, M. Martinez. (Row 2) Y. Barba, I. Kim, K. Cho, C. To, M. Cruz, B. Yeh, A. Lin, V. Bautista, E. Munoz, A. Rochin. (Row 3) J. Minamoto, C. Chow, C. To, C. Sun, V. DeLeon, F. Tong, K. Jin, J. Navarro. (Back Row) L. Teraishi, C. Minano, L. Angulo, S. Dominguez, P. Angulo, R. Amunatigui, H. H. Sarni, A. Edinger, A. Cendejas.

Diane Wackeen propels herself over the high bar with a little extra effort.

Chris Boughlini bounds over the last obstacle on his way to the finish.

Sean Skeete practices his winning high jump technique for an upcoming meet.

Attempting to finish first, the Spartan tracksters stride out in the half-mile run against San Gabriel.

Tracksters Triumph Despite Inexperience

"Fresh Fish," is how Captain Pat Gomez described the Underclass Track teams. Composed of many inexperienced freshmen, the underclass teams glided through League competition, astounding their opponents and proving to disbelievers that they mean business!

In the beginning of the season, the teams encountered many hindrances detering them from performing their best such as adjusting to the new coaches and the havoc Mother Nature played during pre-season. Despite these obstacles, the team remained optimistic and, as predicted by sophomore Greg Robles, "the team did a lot better as the season progressed."

Success didn't come easy for these tracksters as the pain and pressure of practices were pounded on each individual. J.V. long-distance runner Alissa Cendejas said, "If everyone didn't work to better themselves, we wouldn't be in the position we attained."

First-year coach Chris Lord concluded, "This has been a fun and learning season and everyone has gotten better by leaps and bounds."

Godofredo Cruz

As he rushes to return the ball, Charles Sayasith watches his lobbed shot go over the net.

Calling the first serve from his Blair opponent out is first year varsity netter Keenan Eng.

After he serves the ball, Erik Suzuki waits for the return.

Netters Conquer "New" Problems

New faces flourished among the Varsity and JV teams this year. Usually this would spell disaster for any team, but then again, the Varsity and JV teams are not just (any) team.

In the beginning of the season, first-year mentor Jay Thomson just wanted to "do better than last year's Varsity team." Thomson also stressed involvement in tournament play because "there is tougher competition and this would in turn help shape the player into a better one."

Netter Ken Loh said, "The team this past year definitely had the potential and talent although we needed to put our minds into our matches." Keenan Eng remarked, "Since there weren't many returning players from last year's team, the team was in need of experience."

The same problem also plagued the revised JV team. Coach Arnie Futagaki stepped into new shoes as he guided the inexperienced JV team into the always competitive Foothill League. With all obstacles preventing their success, the JV netters tried their best to overcome these problems. Netter Alfred Li concluded, "Even though we had a new coach this year, we still worked hard and strived for a better record."

Godofredo Cruz

While keeping himself on his toes, Keenan Eng returns the ball quickly.

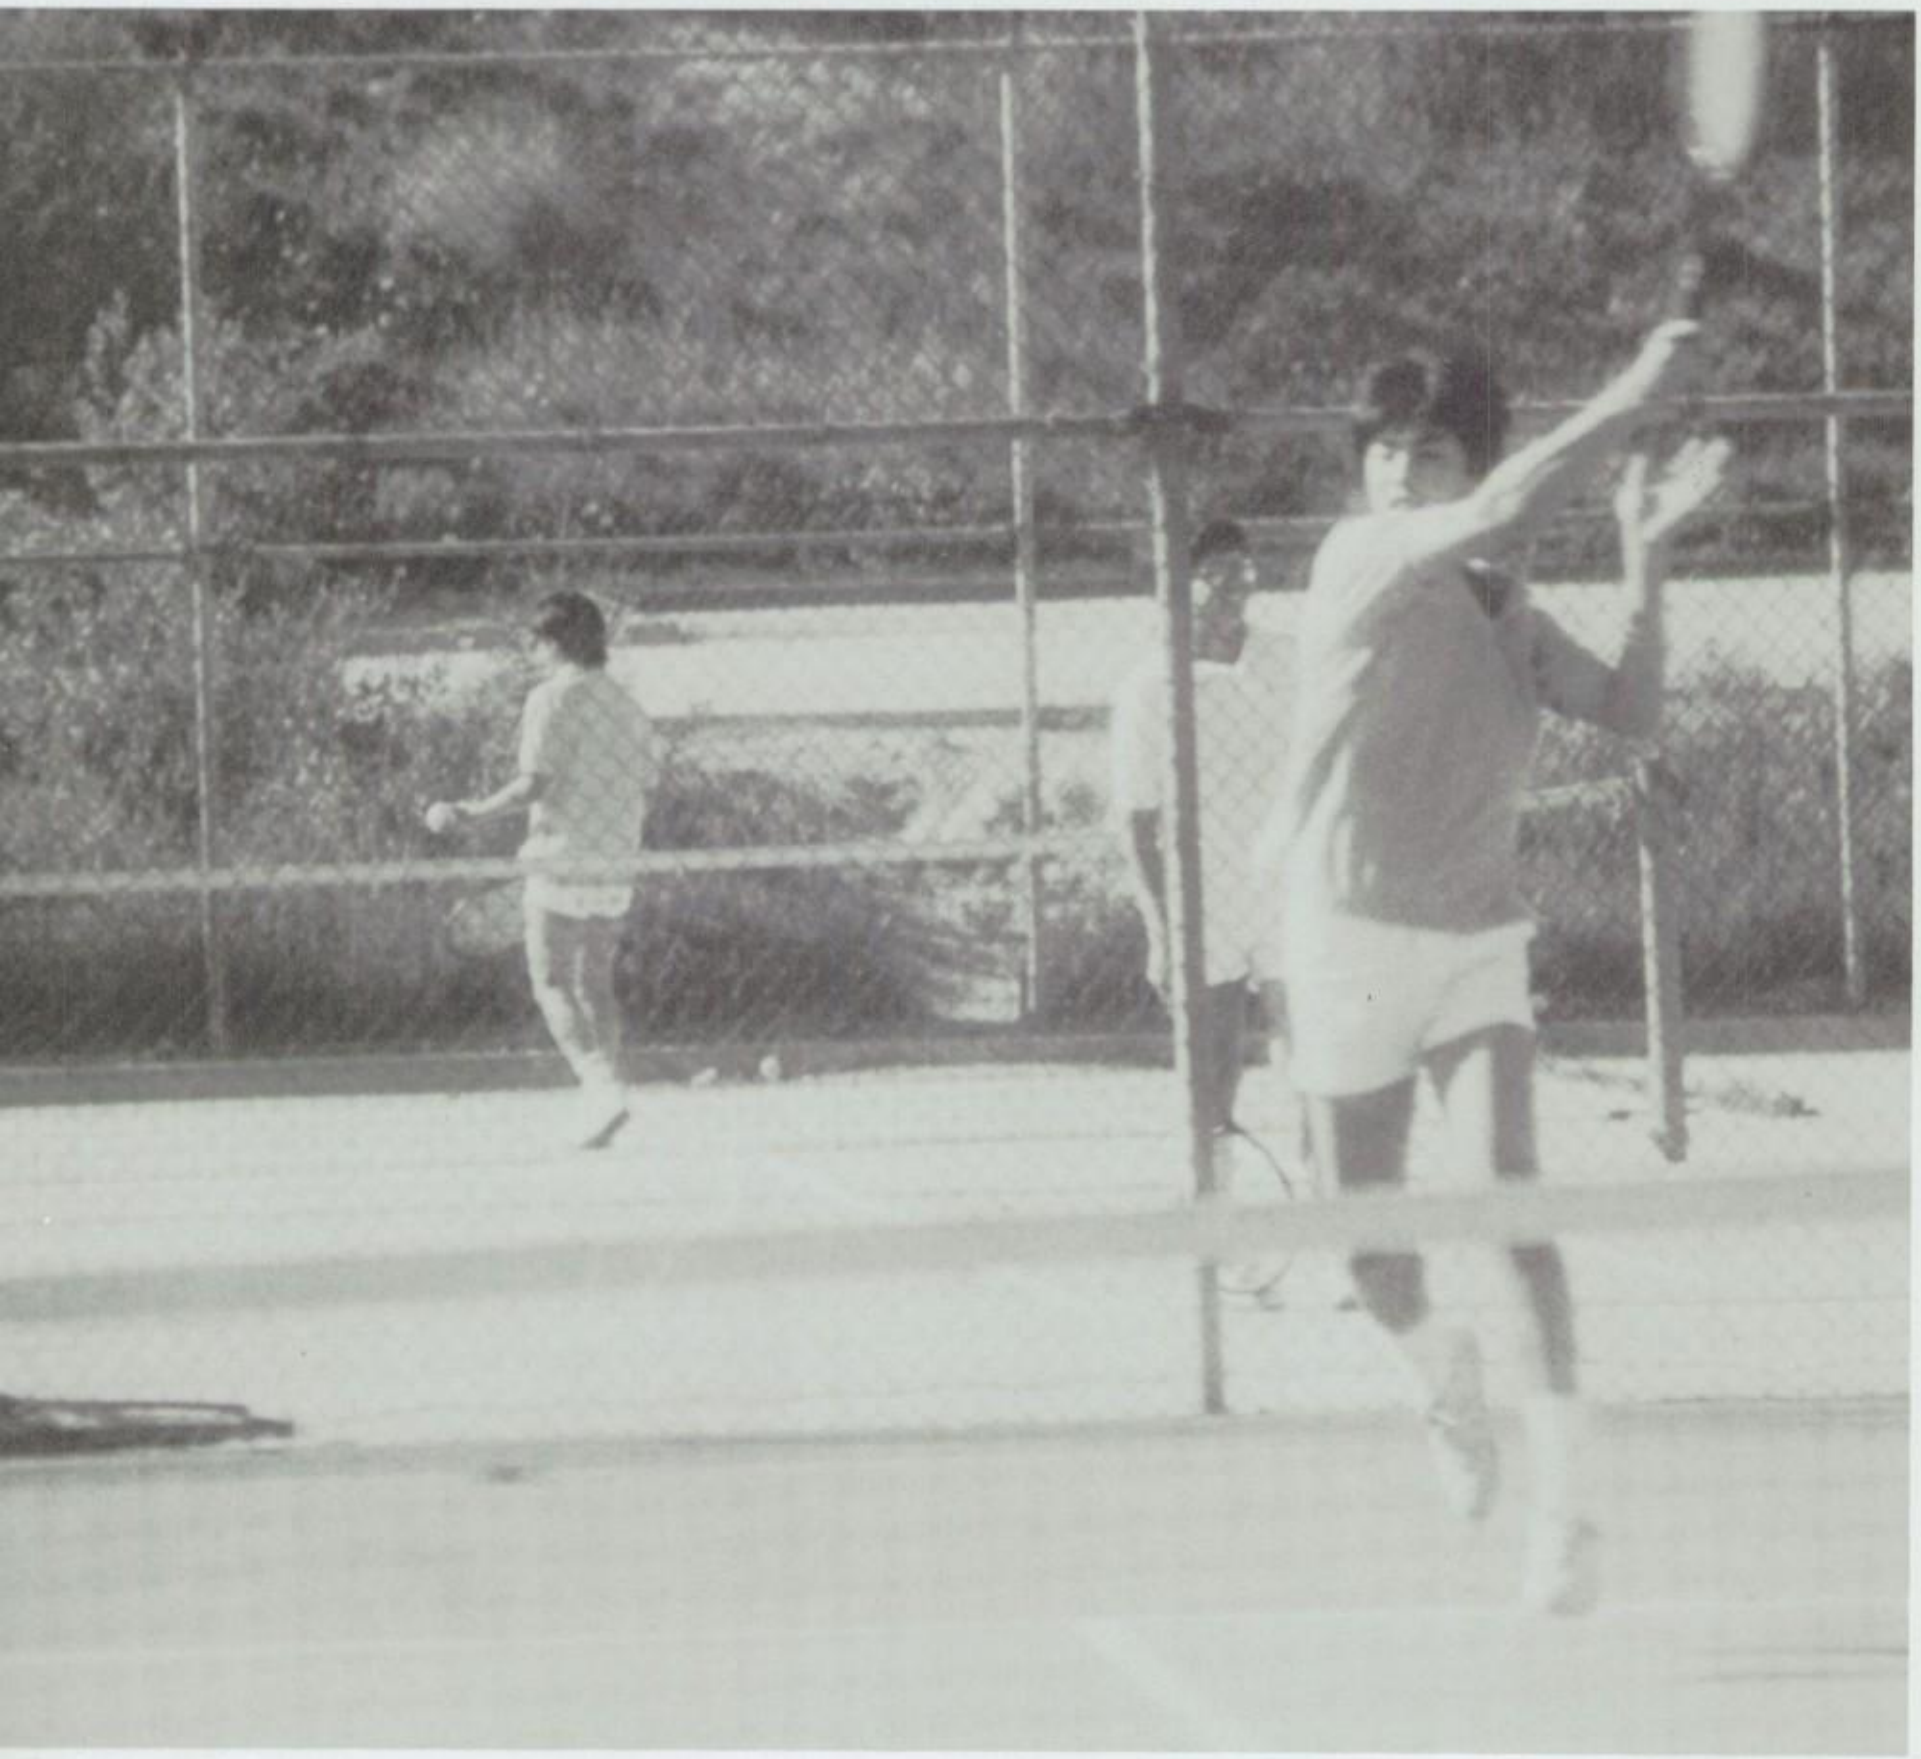
Varsity Tennis Team: (Front Row) K. Eng, E. Suzuki, W. Lew, S. Chang, C. Sayasith, S. Kung. (Back Row) K. Loh, P. Lew, T. Wang, T. Moreno, S. Spadaro, Coach J. Thomson.

JV Tennis Team: (Front Row) P. Ngo, C. Ly, C. Martinez, A. Li, M. Kim, A. Somphone, P. Nimitsilpa, P. Tang. (Back Row) J. Rhee, J. Park, H. Yoon, K. Eng, A. Somphone, G. Yee, J. Kim, Coach A. Futagaki.



The Silent Sects Show Their "Stuff"

What do the golf and swimming teams have in common? Absolutely nothing! Well, maybe except that they are the silent sects of the athletic department. However, their muteness is not seen in play, as they dominated their respective opponents.

In the midst of his tenth season, Coach Richard Niccoli's golf team opened the preseason with a 232-221 defeat over Whittier. As a result of their consistent play, the golfers concluded their preseason with an impressive 5-0 record.

In every team, there is some form of weakness and Jung Kim remarked, "This team is a well rounded team without any significant weakness." However, Coach Niccoli commented, "They lose concentration when they play an inferior team."

When asked what one quality makes this year's team different than the previous teams, Niccoli commented, "Heart!"

Moving from the golf course to the swimming pool, the Spartan swimmers faced league competition without their own coach for the third year in a row.

The four-member team led by senior Danny Dalziel and sophomore Derek Kunishima faced strong teams in league. Dalziel commented, "We are so few, we cannot place in league, but we can place individually."

"The team is a lot smaller, but we've been working out consistently and we're better prepared," concluded Kunishima.

ZBEAR

Trying to "dig" his way out of a sand-trap, Lee Honish makes contact with the ball.

As he takes another breath of air, Dav Kunishima rushes to build up an ear lead.

With intense concentration, golfer Armen Mirzaians directs his shot into the hole.

Golf: (Front Row) L. Honish, C. Koumbarus, J. Vasquez, G. Gonzales, A. Mirzaians, S. Sakamoto. (Back Row) R. Niccoli, S. Ishikawa, J. Kim, R. Tagawa, G. Miki, C. Gonzales, D. Benavidez.

ziel.

While practicing for a league meet, Derek Kunishima dives into the water.

Conducting Business

With its lively, hard-working students and enthusiastic faculty, Schurr High School has been an active contributor to the energetic atmosphere in the community. But the many local merchants in the area also helped the community and have shown their generosity by advertising in this section to support the Spectrum and the school. Their support and patronage are an example of their effort to aid the community and to help make this yearbook, which will be a treasured possession for many, possible. We hope you will thank them with your patronage.

SCHURR HIGH SCHOOL
has come a long way —

In the early sixties, Schurr was just a junior high school, and C-building and the main gym are conspicuously absent from this photo. As Schurr has grown, so has the Booster Club, helping the athletic programs to also grow.

and so has the Athletic Booster Club.

Congratulations to all the graduates of 1986!

Thanks to all the athletes who made this year such a great one.

Sincere appreciation to all the parents who helped in our activities.

#30 Hey everybody, By - CLASS OF '86 #30
What's up? I just want to say Hello Harvard thanks to all my buddies who have kept me sane these last 4 years. John & Anthony - You guys have been great. Thanks for stickin' with me thru the good times & the bad. Zumi, stay away from any red lights, ok! (Go Baylor) J.C., do you surf? (Yosemite Days) Andrea & Linda - What can I say, except thanks for cheering me up when I was down & getting me down when I was up. (Yk) Virgie & Theresa - Thanks for all the encouragement & the advice. (Go for it!) Steve - You bum. Thanks for the locker space. Don't worry, someday you'll hit the pik-6. And thanks to all my friends whose names I couldn't fit in this space. I'm going to miss you all next year. Love John Rod (the Pres.) #30

Charlene - We've been through a lot this year and only now I have begun to realize you have made my senior yr. a special and most memorable yr. We've done many 1st things together, things I could never forget about us. You have brought out a special kind of LOVE that I never knew existed in me. A Love of great feeling and compassion. You think I will forget about you, but you are wrong! whether we are LOVERS, FRIENDS, or ENEMIES, I could never forget the joy and warmth you have brought into my heart. I LOVE YOU CHARLENE!!! Ulysses

Chris - "Buddy", I can't believe it. We've all been together by so fast. But we made it, I don't want to say bye to all of our times we spent together. So I'll say "May the Force be with you"

Dean - You're a very special guy. I wish the best for you in all things. Remember don't "think" you'll get into trouble

Linda - Your all friends we've ever want and more. I'll always hold a special place in my heart for you, keep in touch don't forget about me.

BRIAN - well, we've been through a lot together. fights, dances, high school, etc... I'm really glad to say we remained the friends that we are for such a long time! having you there comforted me through the bad times, and I'm sure you know I've had many of those. Thanks for everything you've done for me!! you are truly "one in a million"! ANDREA - wards can't express the gratitude I feel towards you. you've always been there for me when I need a friend. You are truly special! MARIA - you're the best friend I've had for all the years (esp. in volleyball) Much love and happiness to you and Ismael! LAURA - you're truly one great person. you deserve every praise & fame you've received. hopefully we'll stay the friends we've become. Thanks for listening to my problems, for always being there for me, for making me laugh, for sharing your self with me. I'm so glad I've had the opportunity to get to know you. Thanks for everything. I love you! Much love, Lisa

Dear Friends,
My mom. Thank you for everything. You've been a great mother and friend. Thanks for the laughs. CINDY - it was great getting to know you. Thanks for everything. Love, Lisa
P.S. Thanks for all the fun times!
Dear Mr. Mendelsohn, Missery & Grapes of Wrath were a great 2 years. Love to hear from you. Best of luck in the future. Sincerely, Lisa
Dear Mrs. Tracy - sorry about the 5-4 game, but thanks for everything else. Miss Linda Lou Tracy
P.S. Thanks for the help; we couldn't have made it without you!

Dear Mrs. Hall, I'm really glad to say we remained the friends that we are for such a long time! having you there comforted me through the bad times, and I'm sure you know I've had many of those. Thanks for everything you've done for me!! you are truly "one in a million"! ANDREA - wards can't express the gratitude I feel towards you. you've always been there for me when I need a friend. STUDENTS AGAINST DRIVING DRUNK

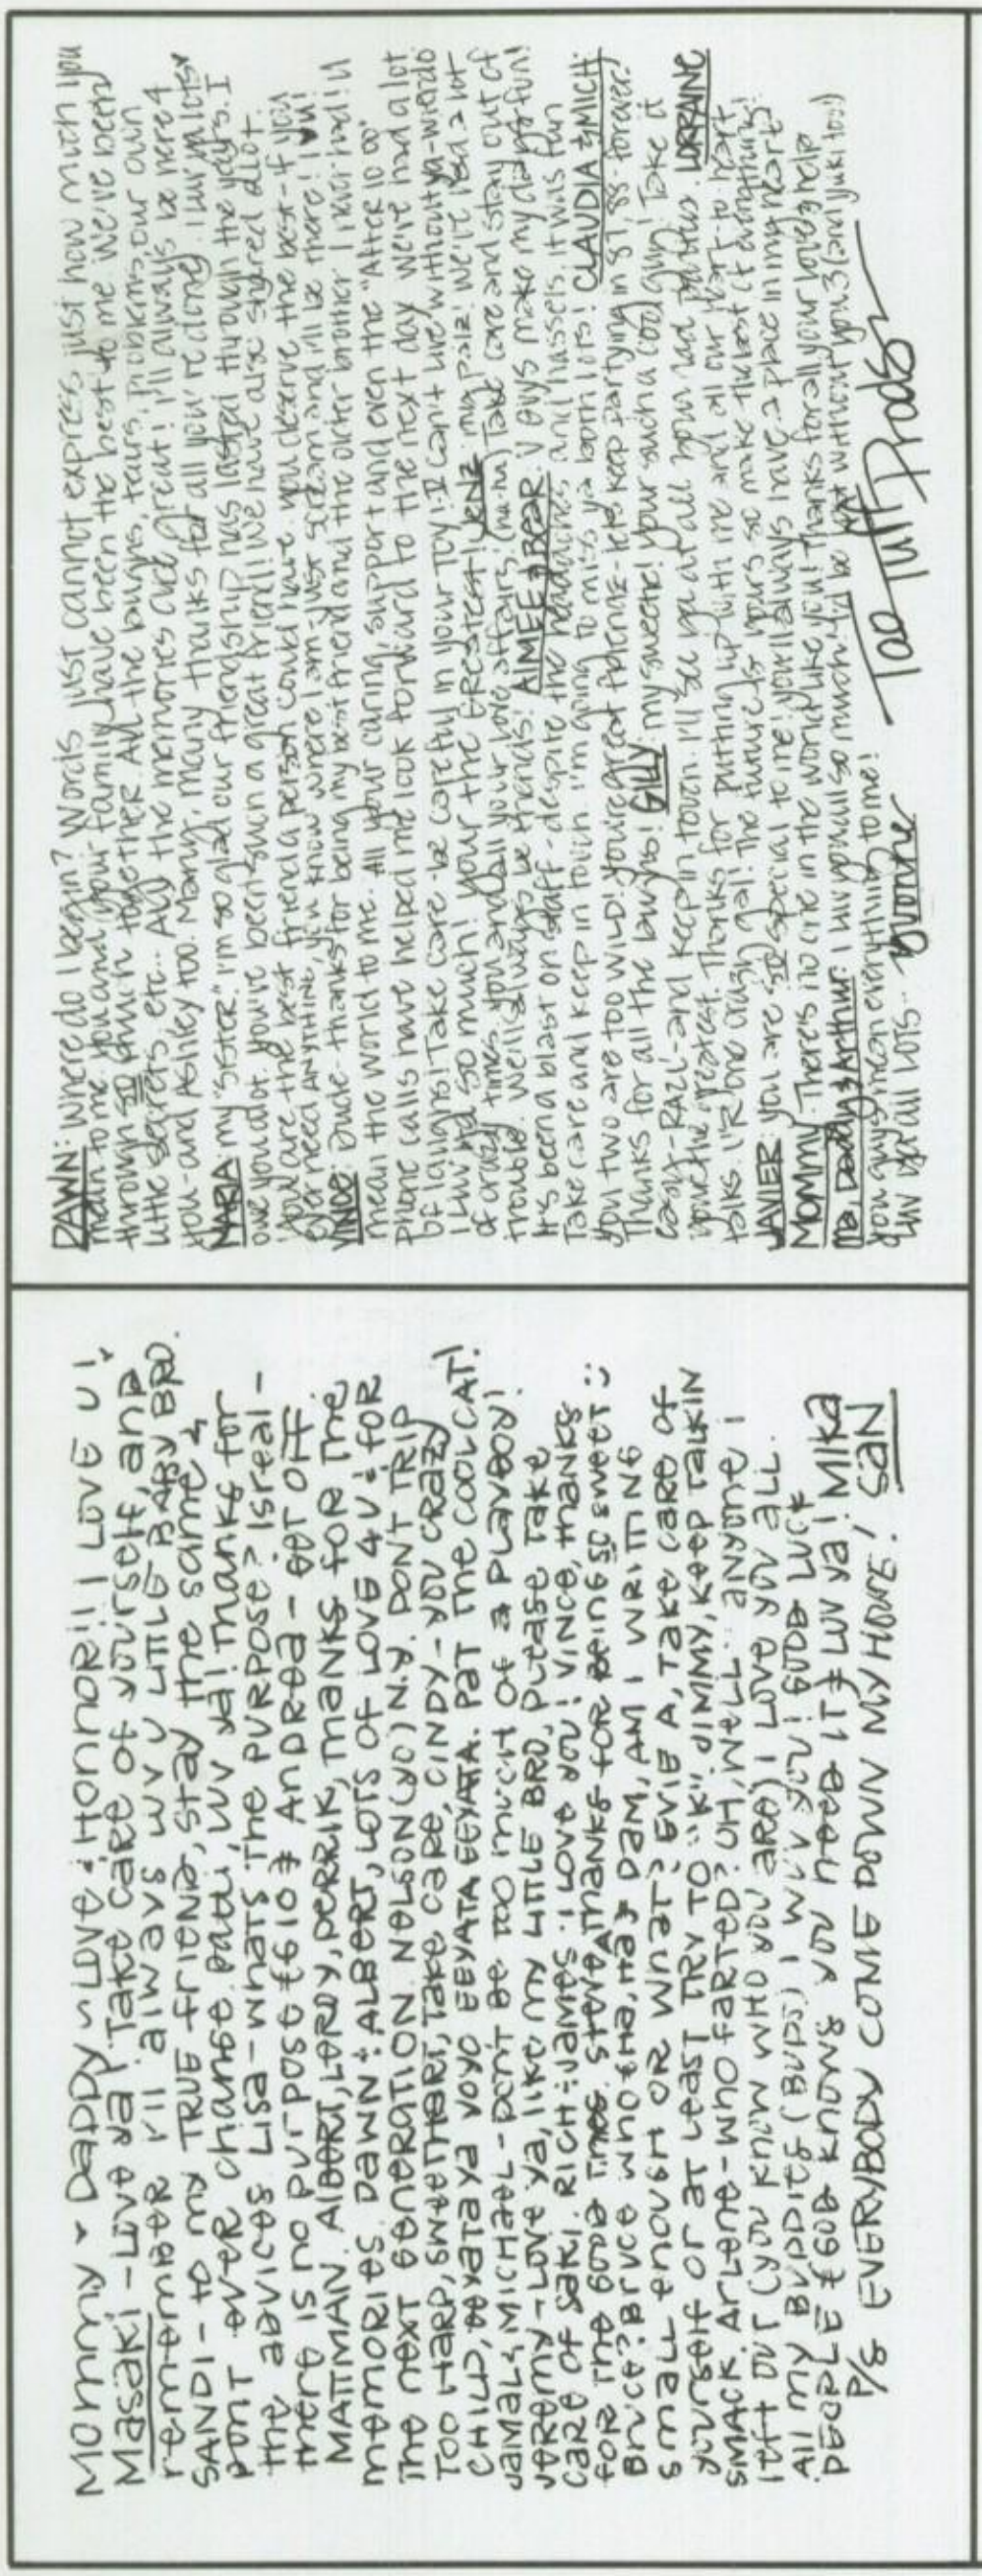
Friends don't let friends drive drunk



DAWN: Where do I begin? Words just cannot express just how much you mean to me. You are family. I have been the best to me we've been through so much together. All the laughs, tears, problems, our own little secrets, etc... All the memories. Cuz great! I'll always be more than your sister. I'm so glad our friendship has lasted through the years. I know you do. You've been such a great friend! We must've shared a lot. One year the best friend contest. You deserve the best-I will be there. I love you. Ever need anything, I'm know where I am. Just scream and I'll be there. I will. Love you. Vince. Dude - thanks for being my best friend and the older brother I never had. I mean the world to me. All your caring, support and even the "Attaboy" phone calls have helped me look forward to the next day. We've had a lot of crazy times. You and Ashley too. Many, many thanks for all you've done. Always be there for me. We'll always be friends. Love, stickers, (no-no) Take care and stay out of trouble. We'll miss you. Love ya! AIMEE & BEAR. I guys make my day. Love ya! It's been a blast on staff - despite the headaches and hassles. It was fun. Take care and keep in touch. I'm going to miss ya'll both lots! CLAUDIA & MICHI. You two are too wild! You're great partying in ST. Ss- forever! Thanks for all the laughs! Silly: My sweetie! Your such a (cool) guy. Take it easy-Raz-and keep in touch. I'll see you around. Love ya, Mama. LORRAINE. You're the greatest. Thanks for putting up with me and all our heart-to-heart talks. I'll love you always. Have a place in my heart. JAVIER: You are so special to me! You'll always have a place in my heart. MOMMY: There's no one in the world like you! Thanks for all your love, support, and sacrifices. I love you so much! Love, Dawn & Arthur. I love you guys so much. Hope we're all still here for each other. Love ya! Dawn
P/S EVERYBODY COME DOWN MY HOUSE! SAN MOMMY - DADDY'S LOVE & HONORS!! I LOVE U!
MASAKI - LIVE YA! Take care of yourself and remember I'll always love you little baby bro. SANDI - to my true friend, stay the same & don't ever change cuz I'll always love you! Thanks for the advices Lisa - what's the purpose? Israel - there is no purpose & 610 # Andrea - get off memories. Dawn & Albert, lots of love & 4 U & for Matman. Albert, Lord, Derrik, thanks for the good times. Stay out of trouble. Love ya, Mike. My little bro, please take care of Saki. Rich & James: I love you guys. Vince, thanks for being a good friend. Love ya! Bruce & Vince who # 1 dream was to be a playboy! Small enough or wait 'til I'm big enough. Be a, take care of yourself or at least try to. P.S. Jimmy, keep talkin' smack. Arlene - who farted? Oh, well... anyone! Ittt Di (you know who you are) I love you all. All my buddies (Bud) I wish you good luck & peace & love & knows no bounds. Let me know what's going on. Miss ya! Mika
Too much to list. Love ya! Bunnie

Carol- thank you for being such a special person It's been so much fun! thank you for being a terrific friend one thing I'll never forget is that we have food in common, we ate enough times during the year. -:) yes.
Lisa- We've had lots of crazy and fun times together. We've been through alot and we're still breathing. Thank you for your friendship. I'm so happy for you and Noel. Take care of your mom!
Alice- thanks for the support. I don't think I'll ever forget '94. We've been through so much the last couple of years and survived.
Sharon- It's about time we see each other again. Thanks for the company I'll never forget all that we did. When I first met you I never thought you'd be such a cool person to be around-All of us make up a great foursome. Follow the stars.
Ana- well we survived! It's been great knowing you. You probably think I'm going to Skid Row University Anyway thank you for your friendship. Hope you've had as much fun as I had. Keep in touch and follow your dreams Sukeena- thank you for being a friend. I'll never forget you who knows maybe I'll see you at Strawberry Days.
Shaken- though your my sis. I'd like to thank you for being a friend. Remember each year comes once so have fun and take advantage.
Eddie- thanks for the company. We sure covered alot of stories. Thank you
Jay- thanks for trying to get me in the right direction. Jane & Kristine- thanks for being there

Luv, Ruby

RUBY... We finally made it! You've been a great friend this pass year. I'll always remember all those times at Straw Hat. I'll miss going there with you. Thanks for listening to my problems. I could always count on you. Don't forget the plans we made together. Hope all of your dreams come true like Matt and Gunnar. Take care. See ya soon
NANCY... You've been a terrific friend ever since J-school. Thanks for inviting me to all those concerts. I had so much fun. I appreciate all the pics you've given to me, cuz they mean alot to me. I guess I'll see you when Green comes to town. Take care
JONI & LANCE... Thanks for all those rides to the concert. I had lots of fun at Hojo's & TT's.
HELEN... It's been fun knowing you for the past three years. I had lots of fun whenever you came. Thanks for everything. Good luck with Ken. You two make a good couple. Hope it lasts forever.
SOCH... You're one terrific friend. We went through alot. Thanks for all the advice. I'll miss you. Take care.
GRACE... Thanks for everything you've done for me. You've been very helpful to me. Good luck in everything.
CINDY... I had lots of fun. It won't be the same without you. Remember our secret. I'll miss you.
SUSIE... You're a great friend. I missed you this year.
ALICE... It's been fun knowing you. I'll see you at K-ROQ
SUSAN (The Cheese)... You've been a great cousin & I'll always think of you as my big sister. Love ya lots!
JEAN... Only one more year, so hang in there. Good luck.
CINDY... You're one special cousin. Take care, ok?
RODNEY... Remember Motorcycle? I'll miss those faces.
JEFF... You're like a brother to me. Have fun with CD.
TO ALL MY FRIENDS... I'd like to thank all of you who made my four years special. I'll treasure all the memories. Remember me always because I will never forget you. "(Don't you) forget about me" - Simple Minds - Always. Carol, Norm, JT, Kiyomi, CS

MARIA Weird... we've stayed great friends since the 3rd grade. So much has happened since then. Ya know, I'm sure we actually grew up knowing what they'll say "you only have a few good friends in ur lifetime" and I'm glad you're one of them. Think about it we had some pretty great times (& bad) CAROLYN (PLEEZY) OH DEAR you're so damn cute and sexy too! Especially in the morning. Ya know I think we could keep the Ann Jones going. Well sweetie, I'm glad we became good friends. I'm gonna miss your smiling face in the morning! TODD you were a big part of my life also! I never forget U ♡♡♡♡ I ALWAYS LOVED U TOO.

TO All my Friends: We MADE It !!! Thank you for all your help and support through my four years at SCHURR. I'm going to miss you all. SHARON: thanks for all the laughs and rides you gave me. I will always remember the crazy things we did together. Things like taking Pictures of bi's _, the thing about AA, HL, what we did for DURAN, ect... we had some good and bad times but through all that we made it! you have made my years at schurr, very different, I think I'll. TAKE care and stay as you are. SAKE - thanks for helping me through Barrett's, Lebow and Wellenstein. I will never forget those things we did to AA. Have fun at UCLA. RAT - thanks for your help in English, you always helped me when I needed it. Take care! ALICE & Lupe -: Well, Hommies, I'm going off to college now and I'll miss you both. Thanks for the long talks and the advise you gave me. You guys are the two best MOM'S Anyone can ask for. Atelia:- Thanks for all those SPANISH homeworks I wouldn't have made it through that class without you. MONA:- thanks for all your help. I'll always remember the times we had in the ROCKWELL Bus. KATHY -: Thanks for taking care of me and protecting me in EUROPE. Let's go to Europe again. Maybe I can get you drunk this time. NIKA -: GOOD LUCK with HUKESH. Thanks for all your support. If you need to talk, you know I'll always be there. PRATT:- thanks Big SIS. Thanks for putting up with me. MOM & DAD - thank you for everything. You guys are not perfect but I Love you and will always Love you. POCKETTS -: Thanks for those long talks. You make life easier for me by always saying the right thing at the right time. I also want to thank all my teachers. MR. WIT - THANK YOU for everything. Putting up with me. LOVE YA, DUHITAK

If you were wondering whether seniors really beat up underclassmen, this picture is proof! Raising her arm in triumph is Kim Gioia after tackling and sitting on victim freshman Noemi Santana, who helplessly waves her arms.

"High Energy is the feeling when something great is happening — when you have a great feeling of exhilaration and excitement. It's when you can feel the tension building during a close football game, such as the one against Burbank where Schurr won by one point. But the victory was not decided until the last second ticked away."

Adrian Moctezuma

High Energy: The Final Chapter

High Energy. High energy is the extra-ordinary energy seen and felt around Schurr by the students and faculty members.

Whether from sports, academics, clubs, or any other kind of activity, both student body and faculty members participated enormously. High energy was brought out when a person worked either by himself or with other people.

This sparkling energy was seen throughout the school year every minute of the day. The band practiced before school, athletes practiced right after school, and students tried to finish their homework, report, or just study during the night. But this energy was felt most during the regular school hours when all students and faculty were together.

Gemini

During Mrs. Fasnacht's class, Irene Miranda smiles at a joke. There is always one kind of enjoyment or another in every class daily.

Congratulating themselves are "graduating" teachers Wilber Raisner and Richard Smith. Raisner has taught at Schurr for fifteen years while Smith taught for fourteen years.

Before going their separate ways after school, Laura Rivas and Greg Patlan give each other a final hug.

licating she likes Coke better than Pepsi is Charise varez, while Lulu Solis grins in agreement. Both Alvarez and Solis were in the Varsity Volleyball team.

Colophon

High Energy, Volume XIV of the Schurr High School Spectrum, was created, edited, and financed by the 1986 Spectrum staff. The book was printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Marceline, Missouri. The color sections were printed on 80 pound Ainsworth and the black and white sections on 80 pound Callais. The binding was rounded and backed. Wrapped on a 160 point binder's board, it featured an artist's concept tempera illustration printed in full color. The endsheets are ultra-blue with silver foil applied on the front only. The book features 64 pages of full color. Th division page art type is by Bonnie To.

Senior and faculty portraits were taken by Sanford Stu dios of Whittier, California. Their services were also use for some candid photography. Underclass portraits wer taken by United School Studios.

Body copy was printed in 10-point Times Roman wit headlines in 24 and 36 point Times Roman. The caption were in 8-point Times Roman.

aloha, guess who?
Its me Pamela! we made it!
Just like I said we would, remember?? Gosh Im glad we met!!! Im glad we haven't gone out yet cause I don't think society could handle the two of us! One of these days Im
gonna prove to you that you can dress me up and at the same time take me out!!
(Pretty hard to believe) Yeah?
Thanks for all your help in typing!! One day Im gonna supprse you and stop by your house!! (when you least expect it)
I wanna see your drum set! Lets jam!!!

Danny,
Congratulations!
We're (your) gonna graduate. I'm so proud of you. Well
I really want to thank you for listening to all of my problems and for buying me
lunch when we used to work at the Town Center (yuk yuk).
We have to go out and have some more wine &
champagne again.
Give me a call
